ROGERS POINTS OUT PARLEY'S JUGGLING OF NATIONAL PRIDE

(Special To The News)
NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—Arrived from your old time country seat today and for a country that has no tradition or background you are not bad.

Have read all your papers today on the conference and here is one thing they seem to overlook that really makes this thing harder than you think. You must remember that it's national pride that they are juggling with. There is far more pride involved at this conference than ships. The minute you rate a nation they naturally think you are establishing their importance in comparison to everybody else. Nations don't mind being small, but they don't want it advertised to the world.

So remember it's not tonnage they are portraying its prestige. If they only had to divide up snips they would none next week.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Pedestrians slid blithely down over the hills this morning, following a light drizzle of rain on top of the snow which fell yesterday. And in some cases, the sliding was not done on their feet.

Work is in progress on some of the state highway contracts about this county, this winter, according to reports reaching Pa Newc. Work is being done on grading of the Perry Highway and also on grading of the road from Enon Valley to Beaver County line, in some sections.

Local Spanish War Veterans, who are sponsoring the Americanization school conducted in the Lincoln and Garfield buildings, are amazed at the desire to learn shown by many of the pupils. In a number of cases, the pupils are men and women close to the sixty mark, who are anxious to learn the language and ways of the land of their adoption.

Well do I remember that week in February, 1899, after the cold weather. I was working for the Penna. R. R. Co. as track walker, and I made one round trip from Newport to Lawrence Junction every day. During that week it was from 10 to 24 degrees below zero.

Yours respectfully,
WILLIAM J. FREED.

Although Fire Prevention Week is observed during the fall each year, and warnings are given residents on what to do to prevent fires, some people do not seem to take it to heart. An examination of the causes of fires shows that in a majority of cases, they can be traced to carelessness. Heater pipes are allowed to become rusted through; people go away and leave the draft on in their furnaces; neglect to brick up unused fire places; paste paper over chimney holes, and similar careless acts.

Pa Newc is of the opinion that at some of the eating places about the city, some of the chipped and broken dishes should be discarded. Dishes that are cracked are germ carriers, we have been informed.

Eighteen Bodies Taken From Mine After Explosion

Thirty Miners Trapped In Utah Mine By Blast

Sparks From Mine Cutting Machine Blamed For Explosion.

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)
STANDARDVILLE, Utah, Feb. 7.—Eighteen bodies, blackened from the coal miner's greatest enemy — after damp — had been removed from the Standard Coal company's mine here today following an explosion shortly after 9 o'clock last night that spread the lethal fumes through the workings of No. 1 and No. 3 mines.

Thirty men were at work when the explosion occurred. Three of them escaped alive, five were rescued alive shortly before 9 o'clock this morning, one was rescued in a semi-conscious condition, but still alive, and three are unaccounted for and little hope is held for rescuing them alive.

Cause Of Explosion.
According to coal company officials, the explosion resulted from sparks from a mine cutting machine which ignited the deadly gas in the underground workings.

The explosion itself caused little damage and injured no one, but the terrible after-damp spread rapidly from Mine No. 3, where the blast let go, to Mine No. 1, more than a mile distant, where the thirty men were at work.

A rescue crew of six men was working desperately this morning in an effort to reach the ten miners who have not been heard from since the explosion. (Continued On Page Two)

British Admiralty Offers Serious
Obstacle To Cruiser Question.

By HARRY R. FLORY,

LONDON, Feb. 7.—While setting forth clearly the limits to which America is willing to go in the cause of disarmament and providing a perfect basis for further negotiations, the "fifteen-cruiser" statement of Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson does not represent a definite agreement between Great Britain and the United States.

This was made crystal clear today when the British admiralty lost no time in coming forward to point out supposed discrepancies in Col. Stimson's tonnage figures as well as other items in the statement which are not entirely to British liking.

The principal discrepancy which the admiralty pointed out concerned the British eight-inch gun cruisers York and Exeter. These vessels, the admiralty declared, displace only 10,000 tons. Secretary Stimson's statement inferred that America would have an advantage of several thousand tons in this class of warship.

Serious Obstacle.
The admiralty, admitted, however, that this difference could be quickly adjusted by adding 3,200 tons to Britain's fleet of light cruisers.

However, the admiralty managed to find an apparently serious obstacle to bringing about the very backbone of the Stimson program, which is (Continued On Page Two)

City Employees Must Turn Over Court Fees If Ordinance Passes

Councilman Louis Genkinger today introduced before council meeting at the city building an ordinance which it passed finally will compel all city employees, summoned as witnesses in civil or criminal court cases, to sign away their witness fees to the city or lose their city pay while they are off duty and testifying in court.

The ordinance was introduced and when the city clerk got through reading the title, Mayor Gillespie asked: "Is it not proper to read the contents of the ordinance?"

Councilman Genkinger requested the clerk to read the bill, which was done.

The ordinance as presented today follows:

That whenever any city officer or employee is summoned to appear in court as a witness in any civil or criminal action he shall sign an order to the city treasurer to collect the witness fee which shall accrue to him for such service for the uses of the city; and shall give the said order to the head of his department within five days from the time of performing such service unless he has obtained from the head of his department a leave of absence for the days on which he appears in court, in which event he shall receive no pay from the city for such days.

Any employee who shall refuse or neglect to sign such an order or procure a leave of absence for the days that he is engaged as a witness in court, shall be subject to immediate dismissal from the service of the city.

Supervisors Of Local Highways In Convention

Judge R. L. Hildebrand Extends Greeting At Gathering In Court House.

UNJUST CRITICISM SEVERELY CONDEMNED

W. A. McMahon, 26 Years Supervisor, Tells Of Advanced Road Making.

Sixteenth annual convention of Lawrence county road supervisors and auditors associations met this morning in the court house for the purpose of discussing work done during the past year and planning for the present year.

There was a good attendance when President Milo D. Paden called the meeting to order at 10 o'clock, and introduced Judge R. Lawrence Hildebrand, who was scheduled for the address of welcome.

Judge Hildebrand began by saying that an address of welcome is hardly necessary, but as it is a time honored custom he would endeavor to comply. Contrasting the number of miles of paved road with the unpaved in Pennsylvania Judge Hildebrand, called attention to the fact that the amount of paved road is small in comparison with the unpaved, consequently the work of road supervisors in keeping up the unpaved road is great.

Easy to Know.
The large amount of unpaved road is under the supervision of men such as are assembled here, he said. People of rural districts are not always satisfied with the way the unpaved roads are kept up, especially at some seasons of the year, and it is quite natural that they should complain. Displeasure with the work of supervisors is one of the risks the supervisor takes, when he assumes the office.

In going about the duties of supervisor and in hearing the many complaints it is but natural that supervisors become somewhat calloused to the criticisms of the public. From the frequency of complaints that are made to judges, one might suppose that they are dictators of the road system. Judges have no such authority. They have troubles enough without shouldering responsibility for roads.

Where a supervisor has been shown to be wilfully negligent or careless in the performance of his duties, there are methods prescribed by law, by which the supervisor may be brought to account. The infrequency of court actions indicates that on the whole, supervisors are doing pretty good work.

Co-operation Needed.
There is always a disposition to criticize public officials, no matter in what capacity they may be acting, but one who unjustly criticizes is virtually attacking the government, for it is through individuals that government endures as long as it has the support and co-operation of the people. It is the duty of all officials to discharge the obligations to constituents to the best of their ability.

As for actual road building, Judge Hildebrand confessed that he did not know very much about it, but from his knowledge of the roads of Lawrence county, he was of the opinion that supervisors are doing good work considering the means at their command. He believed that in the main (Continued On Page Two)

Death Of Girl Unavoidable Is Jury's Verdict

Inquest Held In The Case Of Esther Louise Bohlman
At Wampum

DR. A. R. DALEY
IS EXONERATED

Esther Louise Bohlman, aged 9 of Wampum, who was struck by the automobile of Dr. A. R. Daley of Shinarump, came to her death as the result of an unavoidable accident, according to the verdict of a coroner's jury at Wampum last night.

Inquest was held by Coroner J. P. Caldwell at the office of Justice of the Peace James Glover. Justice Glover heard testimony on a reckless driving charge at the same time. After the coroner's jury had reported Dr. Daley was discharged.

Eye Witnesses Heard.
Several eye witnesses of the accident were examined. Their stories were practically all the same. They showed that the little girl, with a companion, was on the west side of Main street, which she desired to cross.

There were cars parked on both sides of the street, but there was room between the cars for vehicles to pass. Esther Louise Bohlman started to go from the west to the east side of the street. She had come out from behind one of the parked cars, and had waited until a car going south had passed.

PRESIDENT IS OUT OF DANGER

(International News Service)
MEXICO CITY, Feb. 7.—With President Pascual Ortiz Rubio resting comfortably and on the way to recovery from the effects of the wound in his jaw inflicted by a would-be assassin, authorities today continued their investigation of the motives behind the shooting.

Although Daniel Flores, who fired six shots at the presidential car and injured the president, his wife, his niece and others in the car, still maintains that he acted alone and for personal reasons, the authorities refuse to believe his act was not the outcome of a carefully-laid plot.

Second Operation.
A second operation upon the president was necessary yesterday. It was a minor affair, however, being merely the removal of a bone splinter from the president's jaw and he came out of the anesthetic in good condition.

Dona Josefina Ortiz De Rubio, the president's wife and Senora Maria Roch, his niece and the others who suffered minor injuries during the shooting, have virtually recovered. Flores is now being held in the Santiago military prison. The scene (Continued On Page Two)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—Charles Evans Hughes will be confirmed by the senate next week as chief justice of the United States, administration leaders declared today, despite the dramatic demand of Senator Cole Blaise (D) of S. C., that his nomination be returned to President Hoover.

To Ignore Blaise.
The plea of Blaise that the senate simultaneously adopt a resolution requesting President Hoover to reappoint William Howard Taft likewise will be ignored, it was said. So too will Blaise's sensational charges that there was "something crooked" in the resignation of Taft and the prompt appointment of Hughes. Both Republican and Democratic leaders privately deplored Blaise's speech but declined comment.

Rumors were current in the capital that Taft had given up his post reluctantly. It was said he had been influenced by the members of his (Continued On Page Two)

GAS STATION HOLDUP

(International News Service)
WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Feb. 7.—Fred Flood, alias Fred Wilkins, 25-year-old Detroit gunman, today awaited an order sending him on his way to solitary confinement in "murderers row" at the State penitentiary in Bellefonte where he will pay with his life in the electric chair for killing Joseph Pollard in a gasoline station holdup here last December 27.

Flood was found guilty of first degree murder by a jury in criminal court here late yesterday.

Tried To Blame Booze.
During the trial, which started last Monday, the defense sought to prove the youthful handit was under the influence of liquor at the time of the shooting and was not responsible for his actions. Flood took the stand in his own behalf and, while admitting the crime, said he was so drunk at the time he did not know what he was doing.

Demand Extreme Penalty.
District Attorney Lewis who prosecuted the case demanded the extreme penalty for what he termed a "fiendish murder." Lewis told the jurors they would be violating their oath and sending a message out to other criminals to ply their "fiendish gun trade" if they did not find Flood guilty.

Flood was captured by police a few hours after the brutal slaying of the youthful gas station attendant.

BESSIE STEEN

By Central Press.
SAN JOSE, Cal., Feb. 7.—Face powder is more efficient than gun powder, black tresses will turn more arrows than armor, and a feminine figure is more protection than an army against the poisoned darts of Brazilian Indians.

This is the opinion of Bessie Steen, pretty San Jose school teacher, who will start this spring to search for a lost tribe of Indians, believed by ethnologists to be the most primitive in the world.

Party after party of explorers, in search of this lost tribe, have been turned back by the poisoned arrows of the blood-thirsty Karajas who frequent the heart of the Brazilian jungles. Colonel Faucett, famed explorer, made the attempt not long ago, but poisoned arrows killed him.

Twenty years ago the lost tribe was driven far into the jungles by the Karajas, who killed many whites and captured one woman who is today the wife of a Karaja. She has told of her lost people, and from her Miss (Continued On Page Two)

Harrisburg Man, State Employee Is Severely Wounded

Mystery Surrounds Shooting
Of State Capital Employee
In Harrisburg Home

THREE QUESTIONED
BY POLICEMEN

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Feb. 7.—Mystery surrounds the probable fatal wounding of John Endress, 30-year-old employee of the state department of property and supplies who today is hovering between life and death in a Harrisburg hospital with a bullet wound in the abdomen. The man was wounded in the home of Garrison Plaine with whom he made his home here.

Police insist that the shooting was the result of Endress' interference in a domestic rift between Plaine and his wife while the wounded man told detectives at the hospital he had shot himself accidentally. The shooting occurred in the living room of Plaine's home.

The bullet entered the lower left part of the man's back. He told police he was right-handed. A 38 caliber revolver which police said belonged to Plaine, was found in the room where the shooting took place.

Plaine was grilled for several hours by detectives and detained at police headquarters. Mrs. Plaine and her sister went to police headquarters today but were released after questioning.

Plaine returned to this city from Baltimore, Wednesday, and was to have left for St. Louis with his wife in a few days to accept a position as shoe salesman in that city.

REPORT TAFT HOLDING OWN

Danger Of Sudden Fatal Re-lapse Is Believed To Be Passing

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—Concern over the possibility that William Howard Taft was in danger of an almost hourly fatal relapse gradually was being dissipated today.

The former president and chief justice, according to the bulletins of his physicians, seems to be holding his own despite his 72 years and the seriousness of his illness.

Medical men were inclined today to believe that what has set in is a "wearing-away" process—in other words, that while there is scant hope for ultimate recovery, it may be a matter of weeks, or even months before Taft's condition reaches another and more serious stage.

Gets Some Rest.

Latest bulletins indicate the nation's great statesman and jurist is taking more nourishment, and this was one thing which had worried the attending doctors. Also, the administration of sleeping potions has given him some helpful rest, and he is considerably better than when he was carried from a southern train last Tuesday morning.

The most careful examination thus far has failed to reveal any trace of uremic poisoning, and his elimination was said to be good. This was significant in view of the fact a chronic bladder ailment is complicating his arterio sclerosis.

Beam Light To Protect Officer

Louis Round Comes To Rescue Of Unprotected Policeman At Corner

Louis Round, local manager of the Penn-Ohio Electric system, today told council in session at the city building he would donate a beam light at the corner of Croton avenue and East Washington street, pending an investigation of the alleged traffic evil.

East Side business men asked that a traffic signal be put there. Council said the matter had been sent to the traffic commission, which has been slow in acting upon.

Council said a traffic officer is in a dangerous position during night time as he might be hit by cars.

Round, present during the session, spoke up and said that pending an investigation he would be glad to have a beam light throw light on the traffic officer to be stationed there.

that in addition to absolute parity in battleships. The United States should have eighteen eight-inch gun cruisers to Britain's fifteen.

This obstacle is provided in the admiralty's opinion that such an arrangement makes no provision for the auxiliary ratio demands of Japan.

What About Japan

If the United States builds the fleet of eighteen cruisers she asks, Britain could not possibly grant Japan the 70 per cent. cruiser ratio that has been requested, the admiralty pointed out.

So far as battleships are concerned, the Admiralty had another objection. In order to bring about battleship parity between Britain and America by 1931, on a basis of fifteen each, it would mean the immediate scrapping of five capital ships by this country and three by America.

Such a step, according to the admiralty, would be impossible unless the vessels were taken out to sea and blown to pieces.

Furthermore, the admiralty declares it could not absorb the 5,000 men forming the crews of the five scrapped battleships immediately but could arrange their re-allocation if the scrapping were delayed until 1936 as agreed upon at the Washington conference.

immediate family to retire because his continued absence from the court was proving on his mind, retarding his recovery.

Family Responsible.

One Republican leader told International News Service he had learned that Robert A. Taft, the former president's son, and Mrs. Helen Taft Manning, his daughter, had been responsible for Taft's retirement.

He said the chief justice had so deep an interest in the supreme court and was so proud of its record under his administration that he constantly worried over being absent.

"His family finally prevailed upon Mr. Taft to relinquish his duties in the hope that his retirement would prolong his life," said this leader.

"They believed that if he did not retire, the worry would result fatally. Now his family and physicians are hoping he will respond to the kindly surroundings of his home and to the lightened burdens of a life in retirement. It was their only hope to prolong his life."

Bleas's Demand.

Bleas placed a different construction on Taft's retirement, charging "somebody has fooled that poor old gentleman (Taft)" and declared Taft had been "mistreated and ill-advised." The South Carolinian named no one but Hughes and Taft in his speech and it undoubtedly will be ignored by the Senate.

The senate judiciary committee will meet Monday to consider Hughes' appointment as chief justice. A favorable report has been predicated by Senator Norris (R) of Neb., the insurgent leader, who is chairman of the committee.

don't think there is any question about Hughes being confirmed," said Norris. "He is about the last man I would appoint if I were president, but the president having selected him, I see no reason now why he should not be confirmed."

STAR LORE

HOW THE CHEMICAL ELEMENTS IN THE SUN ARE FOUND

By Arthur De V. Carpenter

Kirchoff, a German physicist, was the first to discover (1816), how to interpret the chemical elements in the sun as revealed in the spectrogram-map produced by the spectro-scope. Take a single instance: Kirchoff had experimented on sodium with the spectro-scope, and had found exactly what kind of a spectrum sodium produced. Comparing sodium lines in the spectrum made in the laboratory, with like lines found in the sun, he proved that the sun also contained sodium. Every chemical produces its own peculiar spectrum. After mapping a chemical's spectrum in the physical laboratory, it becomes definitely recognizable ever after when found in the sun or a star.

STAKES ALL ON SEX IN QUEST

Steen hopes to obtain further valuable information.

Death and disease have been the lot of explorers who have pushed toward the Xingtu river country, where the lost tribe is now thought to be living.

The way is beset by stinging insects, lions, giant snakes and other terrors of the jungle. Worse are the poisoned arrows. Clouds of them spring from the most unexpected places, fired by hostile natives. Just one penetrating the skin will cause death.

But Miss Steen is of the opinion that her sex will protect her. She believes that when natives see a white woman wearing dresses, long hair, and going lightly armed, they will withhold their fire.

To this end she is letting her black bobbed hair grow. "Adding the feminine touch" to exploring, she calls it. "Though probably the Indians won't appreciate what it means to a white woman today to let her hair grow," she adds with a smile.

Miss Steen has planned her clothing with the protective end in view. She will wear a cotton shirt, heavy enough to be practically insect proof. The shirt will be tucked into whipcord riding trousers. It will be tightly buttoned up to the neck and has long sleeves with elastic at the cuffs. She will wear gauntleted gloves, a helmet with mosquito bar reaching to the shoulders and high boots. To identify her sex a skirt will be worn when she reaches the dangerous country.

An experience three years ago with the Botocudo Indians in Brazil has given her confidence. She was the first white woman to be viewed by that tribe and they accepted her as a novelty. They expressed great curiosity about her hair, complexion and clothes. She hopes that the Karajas and other hostile tribes will be similarly charmed—that they will let her live to bring interesting scientific data into the world of civilization.

Her Itinerary.

The Xingtu is Miss Steen's goal. Her proposed route is from Rio de Janeiro to Sao Paulo to Guayaz by train and auto. She will then have her equipment packed to the Araguaya river, travel down it in native canoes to the Tapirape river, up the Tapirape to its source, and from there to the Xingtu—the home of the lost tribe.

An Indian chief has been employed as guide, while a negro who speaks the various dialects will be her chief aide. The negro is to be picked up at Leopoldina, where an English family lives on the Araguaya, far from civilization.

supervisors are rendering satisfactory service. He assured supervisors that they have the good will and co-operation of judges. He concluded by expressing the wish that something might be said at the meeting which would be of practical benefit to supervisors in their work.

Old Time Supervisor

W. A. McMahon, supervisor of Taylor township, delivered a response. Mr. McMahon is a veteran in road work, having served for some 26 years as road supervisor. He admitted that it was a hard job, and that road supervisors come in for a lot of criticism, but he was of the opinion that the supervisor who does the best that he can, need not worry about knocks.

"At certain seasons of the year" he said "we find some of our by roads muddy. But we are not the only people who have muddy roads. You will find them in all localities. Even in the city of New Castle you will find muddy roads. I have had occasion recently to travel on some of the unpaved streets of the city, and I have found them as bad as the country roads. I am not saying this is criticism of New Castle's street system, but only for the purpose of making my point that the country districts are not the only places where roads are muddy."

Mr. McMahon then went back to the time when he first took charge of the roads, showing how the work was done largely by hand. He traced the gradual application of road making machinery, showing how much more may now be accomplished with machines than was done with the long handled shovel. In working upon the roads of Taylor township Mr. McMahon said that he made it a point to leave the roads in good shape, so that the water will run off. After the earth scraped from the gutters has dried sufficiently the roads are dragged. This has a very good effect.

Holes Give Trouble.

Gravel has been placed on some of the Taylor township roads and slag on others. He was rather partial to gravel, but found that it was almost impossible to keep gravel roads smooth. They are prone to develop little holes that make them rough. Mr. McMahon said that he had been unable to devise any method of keeping these holes filled up. Suction from auto tires seems to draw the earth out of them. He hoped that some of the state speakers might give a solution of the little holes in gravel roads. The holes also develop in roads made from crushed limestone.

After the minutes of last year's meeting had been read by Secretary John W. Cox, President Milo Paden made a few remarks in which he showed that Lawrence county pays into the state department over $350,000 in license tags, drivers licenses and auto tax. He did not believe that enough of this is returned to the townships. About the only relief the townships now get is under the state reward plan. In many cases, townships do not have the money to pay their share of the cost of road building under this plan.

Support State Organization

He urged full co-operation of cities, townships and counties with the state in road making. He believed that the state organization of supervisors is doing good work and bespoke hearty support.

A. W. Chilton, secretary of the New Castle Chamber of Commerce, was scheduled for an address, but was unable to be present on account of having sprained his ankle.

R. S. Blackwood, president of the State Association of Road Supervisors made brief remarks and then gave way to H. A. Thompson, president of the State Association of Superintendents. Mr. Thompson reviewed the work that is being done throughout the state, and urged the support of local organizations.

This afternoon there will be an address by Hon. George T. Weingartner, also by C. C. Albright, the latter connected with the engineering department of township highways. Reports of committees and election of officers for the ensuing year will complete the program.

passed. She then started to run across the street, when the car of Dr. Daley caught her. The other little girl saw the car and drew back just in time to save her life.

Esther had almost cleared the doctor's car when she was struck by the bumper at the right hand side. She was thrown down and the front wheels of the doctor's car passed over her, but he had stopped the car, before the back wheels reached her.

Going Slow

Both Dr. Daley and his wife testified that they were driving at about fifteen miles an hour at the time of the accident. They were within about six feet of the little girl when she ran out from behind the car, and although the doctor instantly applied his brakes, it was impossible to avoid hitting her.

Other witnesses examined were Charles McNabb, Bert Epps, Robert Roy, Seth Morrow, Roy McKim and Harold Marshall. They all bore out the doctor's story that the little girl ran out from behind a car going south as the doctor, going north, came opposite to it. Testimony was as to the effect that both the doctor and the driver of the other machine, were going slow. Harold Marshall told about the little girl's injuries, her neck being broken.

The coroner's jury was composed of T. J. McCullough, Mrs. Oscar Baker, T. M. Miles, Charles S. Ferguson, E. T. Algier and Mrs. F. L. Herbert.

Paves Way For A. T. & T. Cables

Council Reports Favorably
On Improvement Bill
Today.

Councilmen convened in city building today and reported favorably from committee an ordinance introduced which gives the American Telegraph & Telephone company permission to lay, construct and maintain cables, overhead or underground, in the city. Passage will occur next week.

It is a "blanket ordinance" and in the future it will not be necessary for the company to have an enabling ordinance passed as the ordinance is similar to that which allows the Bell Telephone company to make improvements here.

However, whenever work is to be done the engineers of the A. T. & T. must submit a blueprint to the city engineer who can approve or disapprove the plans, and the conditions remain under the jurisdiction of the city council.

The company will install new cables in East Washington street between the city line and Butler avenue; Greenwood avenue between West Washington and State streets and also in State street between Greenwood and the city line.

An ordinance which would have designated the points where the improvements were to be made was reported negatively from committee.

Attorneys Will Confer Tonight

To Make Decision As To Request For Change Of Venue For Trial

Ex-Judge W. P. Barnum, Attorney Kedgwin Powell and Attorney Benjamin Jarrett, counsel for Irene Schroeder, charged with the murder of Corporal Brady Paul, are expected in New Castle tonight for a conference with Attorney Thomas W. Dickey concerning the defense to be advanced for the Benwood blonde and W. Glenn Dague.

The decision as to whether or not the defendants will be tried together and also the decision concerning a change of venue may be made at this conference.

Rumor was circulated here today that Homer Schroeder had started east from Pittsburgh, Calif., to claim Donnie Schroeder, four and a half year old son of Irene, who is being held in the detention home.

The alleged letter is said to have been mailed from Texas to Belmont county officials stating that he was on his way east. A letter mailed by a passenger enroute in Texas would not be received until after the passenger himself had arrived.

Further, the rumor seems without foundation in view of the fact that Homer Schroeder has not been in Pittsburgh, Calif., since last May, leaving the steel plant there at that time to seek work in either Gary, Ind., or Baltimore, Md.

Officials here know nothing of any such letter and seem to think that it is the work of another crank. Donnie is in the detention home and it is understood that a proper legal motion asking for his custody would not be looked upon with disfavor here. No such effort has been made as yet.

West Side Club

Mrs. James O'Laughlin of West Washington street entertained members of the West Side club in her home on Thursday evening. The hours were pleasantly spent in playing euchre. Prizes were won by Mrs. John Carr, Mrs. Frank Flynn, Mrs. E. Cavender. At a seasonable hour delicious refreshments were served by the hostess.

In two weeks Mrs. Thomas Fulkerson will be hostess to the club members at Mrs. Sch's W. Washington street.

Tureen Dinner.

The official board of the First Christian church entertained the members of their families Thursday evening in the church dining room with a tureen dinner. The tables were centered with tall tapers and cut flowers. After dinner the group played shuffleboard and enjoyed an informal good time.

Joseph W. Lindsey and his social committee were in charge of arrangements.

Enjoyable Evening.

Three Mothers Agree

When mother is tired, nervous or ill the whole home is upset. For her family's sake, every mother wants to be well and strong. These three women tell how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helps them to care for their families.

Mrs. H. Dolhonde,
6318 York St.,
New Orleans, Louisiana

"Before my last baby was born, I started taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I got such good results that I named her Catherine Lydia. I have six older children and five grandchildren, too. I am now taking the Vegetable Compound again because of my age. I eat and sleep better and I do all my housework, and my washing. I will do my best to answer letters."

Mrs. Harold Goodnow
36 Cane St.,
Fitchburg, Massachusetts

"I cannot praise your medicine enough. After my baby came I was rundown. I had to go to bed often through the day. I took three bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I felt like a different woman. If any mother has those tired feelings I advise her to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

Mrs. Lloyd R. Blasing,
Anaheim, California

"After my baby came I was so nervous and tired that I felt miserable. One day a booklet was left at our door and after reading it I decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I am now on my fourth bottle and I feel much stronger. It has helped me in every way and I feel sure that other women in rundown condition will pick up if they will only take a few bottles."

P. H. C. Members Enjoy Program

Musical Numbers Feature Special Program At Lodge Session

With the recently installed officers in their respective stations and an excellent attendance, a session of the most interesting character was held on Wednesday night, by New Castle circle, No. 5, Protected Home Circle.

Unique features are to be introduced for this unusual ceremonial and a surprise is in store for the members at this time. Following the business session on Wednesday night a splendid program was presented with Guardian Helen Ray presiding and later refreshments were served by her committee.

With the pianist, Harry Hammond, as accompanist, Dorothy Usselman and Betty Conover won new laurels with their dancing, while the trio, Jean Hicks, Fern and Ruth Greer, served a big hit with their solo piano and banjo work. Earnest Black simply made the harmonica speak and was obliged to respond to encores several times.

Audrey Young, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Young, displayed unusual talent as a pianist while the dance "Silence and Fun" by George Foster and his humorous monologue were a big feature of the program.

The pleasant rivalry manifested in the membership campaign now in progress with Past President Mildred Rodgers and President Helen Hurst as captains of the teams, promises a big night in the circle chamber at the close, when a banquet will be given by the losing team to the winners in the contest. On Wednesday, February 12, members and their friends will enjoy another card party under the auspices of the committee in charge of social events.

Plan To Spend $100,000 Here For Electric Conduits

During the present year approximately $100,000 will be spent on conduits here as the A. T. & T. propose to build several and today Penn-Ohio system through Superintendent Louis Round told council in an informal session of the Penn-Ohio's desire to build a new conduit in Beaver street. It is estimated that the work on conduits alone will cost $100,000. Council proposes to pass enabling legislation to permit the improvements.

DANDRUFF A Sure Way to End It

There is no sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

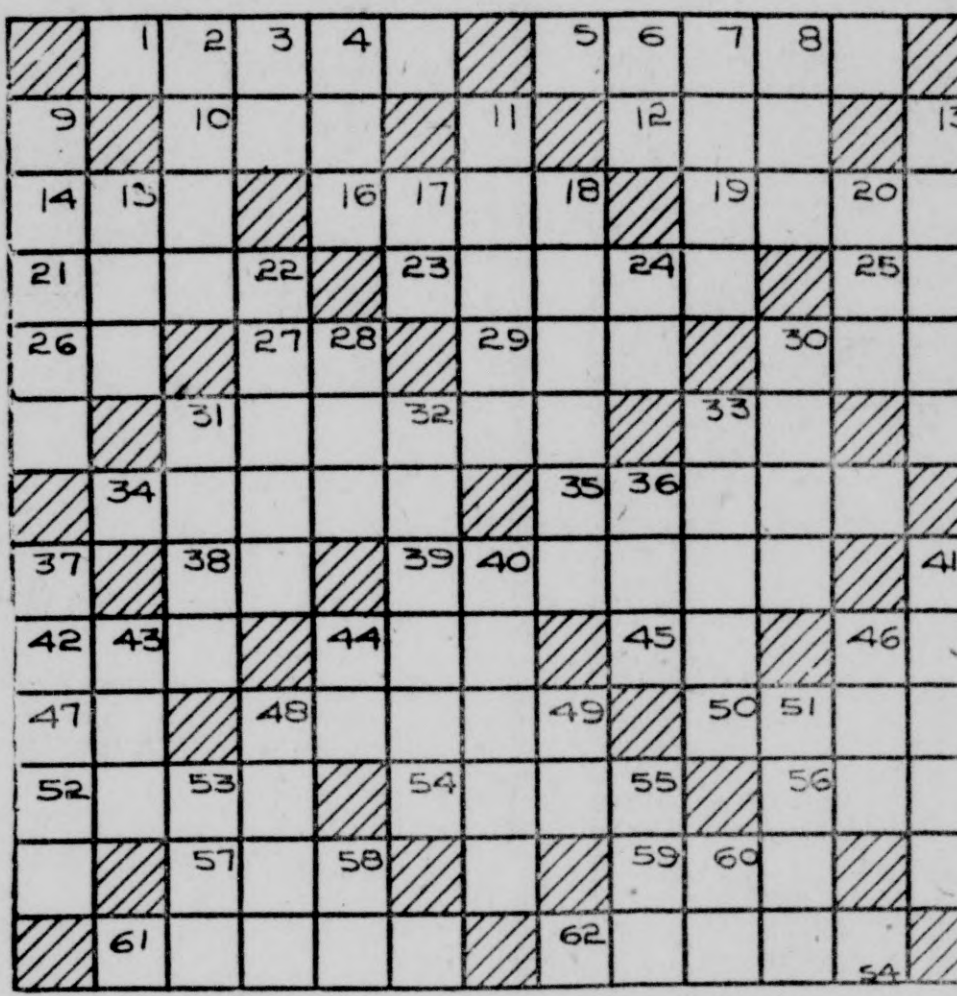

You will find, too, all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

Put a few drops of Vapure on your handkerchief or a piece of gauze. Inhale it several times a day. That's all.

Vapure kills the cold germ and opens up your head. Fragrant pungent odor. Large bottle, 50c.

Peter's Adventures

WELL-LAID PLANS

Biffer the boy and Uncle Merry Great Eye strolled over to the stalk of timothy grass to tell Lizard-Beetle what they thought of him. And what do you think? They found that small soldier curled up in the grass, sound asleep. The three softly tip-toed away, and when they had gone far enough so that they would not disturb the weary little beetle, they took up their conversation. Peter started the ball rolling by asking:

"Before Lizard-Beetle came upon the scene you suggested having a circus. Who's coming?" Uncle Merry Great Eye chuckled.

"You and Biffer, and a lot of the insects you've met."

"Who's going to perform?" Peter was persistent. Uncle Merry Great Eye did not answer this question so quickly.

"Well, let me see," said he, scratching his head with his claw. But Biffer had his say first.

"There's Flea!" shrieked he. "Flea is almost as good a hopper as myself. Uncle Merry, of course you will do your stuff. June Bug is a regular clown. And just wait until you see Leaf Cutter Bee! Oh, I can think of any number of folks who will amuse us. I will set off, post haste, and ask each clever insect to 'put on an act.' You, dear Uncle Merry Great Eye, shall invite the guests."

"What shall I do?" asked Peter. With one voice the Beetles answered: "Stay right here and wait for us. And if you find nothing better, so do in our absence you might clear a space for the circus ring—throw out all the sticks and the pebbles. A clear, sandy space is safest for any such occasion as this—if any of the performers should fall it would be well if they had a soft spot to land on and nothing sharp to bruise them. So long, boy, I'm off!"

Away scurried Biffer, and after him hopped Uncle Merry Great Eye. Peter did as he was bid, and ran to the brookside, then stood still, in dismay, looking about him.

Next: "Ringside Seats."

Often in painting or enameling, the pigment gets under the fingernail and around the cuticle. You will find that a paste of cold cream and turpentine applied with an orange stick will remove all stain as well as keeping the cuticle from drying out.

Take a candy Cascaret tonight and see how quickly your trouble clears up. No more headache, no gas on stomach or bowels. Appetite improves, digestion is encouraged. Take another tomorrow night and the next night. Get every bit of the souring waste out of your system. Then see how bowel action is regular and complete. General Motors
Earnings Shown

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—Net earnings of General Motors corporation for the year ended December 31 totalled $248,282,268, the equivalent of $5.49 a share on 43,500,000 shares of common stock outstanding. According to the report submitted to directors of the corporation, Thursday.

The American people pay more generously for entertainment than any nation on earth. Their generosity has enriched the motion picture industry.

Spoken dialog has come to replace the subtitle of the silent picture. Tagging along with the talkie comes Mechanical Music—an economy.

Real Music is being ordered out of many theatres in favor of this new come, who never dared a theatrical appearance until he gained the protection of the Talking Picture's novelty and the magic word "Synchronized." Now synchronization with a picture does not give Mechanical Music the quality of Real Music.

Banishment of Living Music represents a loss for the theatre patron. Is this loss balanced by the substitution of Mechanical Music?

A very great many theatre-goers will answer:

"NO!"

Then why should the aforementioned American people, who pay so generously for entertainment, be required to take less for their money than they were wont to get?

The first of a number of celebrations commemorating the 30th anniversary of the erection of the Hoover Heights Tabernacle will be held next week. A unique slogan has been adopted for these meetings. "Thirty Years Of Soul Winning." This Church has stood as a light-house in the community for nearly a third of a century. Many have been blessed and helped by its ministry.

Peace Movement To Be Through Children

Children Of Local School To Send Treasure Chests To Philippines.

Various Women's Clubs Of City Sponsoring the Movement.

Never in the history of civilization has there been a time when all people have been so actively concerned with the prevention of war, and the establishing of international peace and good will.

The Federal Council of Churches has appointed a committee whose purpose is to foster international good will among children.

The committee will promote its third friendship project from November 1, 1929, to August 15, 1930. The country selected is the Philippine Islands, and the symbol chosen to bear the goodwill greetings from the children of the United States to the Filipino children is a Friendship Treasure Chest.

Local Schools Interested

It is hoped that the children of New Castle will become interested in sending several of these chests to the Philippine Islands, and at a recent meeting of a council of representatives of the women's organizations participating in the conference on the Cause and Cure of War held last month in Washington, plans were discussed whereby civic agencies might co-operate with the children in this friendship project.

At that meeting, it was suggested that the various women's clubs of the city and the public schools be asked to co-operate, the idea being that the former group might purchase the chests and that the gifts be furnished by the public school children. A number of our local clubs have already voted to purchase one or more of the chests and Dr. Green, Superintendent of public schools, is lending his co-operation through arrangements whereby the children of the public schools may be interested in providing the gifts. Organized clubs of girls of school age will assume responsibility for wrapping and packing the gifts.

Local Committees
The council fostering the movement in New Castle appointed Miss Frances Carey, executive secretary of the local Y. W. C. A., as chairman. Checks for financing the purchase of the chests should be sent to the treasurer, Mrs. William Cosel of the Council of Jewish Women. Other members of the committee are Miss Grace Lowers, Girl Reserve secretary of the Y. W. C. A., and Miss Nancy Pugh, City Director of the Girl Scouts.

City Nurse To Give 'First Aid'

Will Visit All City Employees Immediately On Reports Of Injuries

Miss Eleanor Busang, municipal nurse, will visit all city employees immediately, should they suffer accident according to an accident sponsored by Councilman Reeves and adopted by council today in meeting at the city building.

Notices warning employees to report accidents or run the risk of losing compensation have been posted.

Today Councilman Reeves, superintendent of the health bureau, said it would be a good idea to have Nurse Eleanor Busang visit the persons to give "first aid."

Inspector Henry Dysart also visits all persons for the purpose of securing a report of the accident for the legal department as out of such accidents the city has sometimes been the defendant in damage suits.

Lot Was, But Now It Isn't, He Says

Water Has Washed Away 210x63 Foot Lot Owned By Burns

Once upon a time John Burns, well known contractor, owned a lot along the Big Run. It had a frontage of 210 feet and was 63 feet—but that was before the days of high water.

Today the lot which was, isn't! High water has evidently washed it away as Assessor Blon Cover today backed up the request of Burnes he not be assessed.

They said the lot he once owned is gone.

He has been paying taxes on it for 12 years but according to Burnes the lot has not existed for several years. "Cover is the first man I could get to investigate my complaint" said Burns today to city councilmen in session at city building.

He was exonerated of taxation on the lot which was valued at $100.

Hannan Invents Patent Fish Scaler

Frank Hannan, local fish dealer has an inventive mind, it develops, for Mr. Hannan has invented an electrical apparatus which not only scales a fish, but removes the head and tail. The machine was invented to speed up business in his local store and a duplicate of the machine used here has been constructed for Mr. Hannan's brother, T. R. Hannan of Lima, O.

Several years were spent in developing the machine, which is almost human in its ability to remove the hard scales from the fish in addition to cutting off the heads and tails.

Young and Old Benefit from Penna. Doctor's Flaxolyn Discovery

Lady at 92 Years of Age Declares She Feels as She Did at 21, Through the Use of Flaxolyn. "It Has Given Results I Never Found in Anything Else." First Heard of Flaxolyn by Personal Endorsement of Nationally-Known Doctor.

From all over the United States, letters have been pouring in, to congratulate a Philadelphia physician upon his discovery of new Vitaminized herbal Flaxolyn, which is helping young and old alike to win greater, more vigorous health.

One of the most interesting messages delivered to Dr. Luntz comes from Nokomis, Illinois, and is signed by Miss Agnes Monaghan. She says: "I am enclosing a snapshot of the four generations of our family, who have had wonderful results from the use of Flaxolyn. I first became ac-

41 Years Old—All the "Pep" Wrung Out of Him—Lost 18 Pounds—Jack O'Neil Was a Physical Wreck. THEN HE GAVE FLAXOLYN A TRY. Now Read His Amazing Story! Tells of New Kind of Sleep.

Mr. J. O'Neil, N. 8th St., Phila. Whose Praise of Flaxolyn certainly is heart-felt.

No reporter could do justice to the remarkable story of Mr. O'Neil's fight for health; therefore let him tell every word of it himself. Mr. O'Neil lives at 148 N. 8th St., and you can verify what he says:

"I am a dock man, 41 years old. My job means all hours and long, hard ones, and takes the pep out of me. I lost 18 pounds and was a wreck. I never had any disease in particular, just a run-down system from over-work and lack of sleep.

"One day by chance I read about herbal Flaxolyn and the great good it does, and it all seemed so sincere I decided to give Flaxolyn a trial. After taking it three weeks I felt like an entirely different person, having felt its good effects from the first day I took it. I have regained my regular weight, 172 lbs., and am still doing the same work, but don't mind the strain now, and although I don't average any more sleep than I used to, the kind of sleep I now get seems to do me a lot more good.

"I am telling my friends about Flaxolyn, and in great gratitude am sending you my photograph. Truly and sincerely yours Jack O'Neil, N. 8th St. Hotel."

SCIENCE LEARNS ANCIENT MEN HAD PYORRHEA

(International News Service) DENVER, Col., Feb. 7.—Pyorrhea and gout were as prevalent before physicians began discovering diseases as they are today, it has been learned from skeletons of primitive southeastern Coloradans unearthed by an archeological expedition headed by Dr. Paul S. Martin, until recently head of the archeological department of the State Historical society.

Even as you and I, according to Dr. Martin, our prehistoric grandmother gathered about the basket weaving circle and did no little complaining about her gout, and grandpa caveman helped pass away the long evenings complaining about his tooth-aches.

Dr. Martin discloses that his research revealed numerous physical complaints similar to our own ailments.

One important discovery was that a crude operation on the brain of one of the prehistoric women may have been attempted.

"The right frontal bone had been pierced in such a way that it was impossible to state definitely whether it was a wound due to a blow or to an operation," Dr. Martin stated.

Operation Unsuccessful If it was an operation, it is safe to surmise it was not successful, according to Dr. Martin, because "the sides of the opening were very jagged and healing had not begun."

Pyorrhea was not unknown either, but while four out of five are said to have it now, only one of five had it then, Dr. Martin says. "Five of the twenty-five skulls examined had loose teeth" he said.

"The bone around these loose teeth had become thicker and denser, and, in other words, the specimens had been afflicted with what is now known as pyorrhea," Dr. Martin said.

Fifteen per cent of the 600 teeth examined by Dr. Martin showed decay, he said, and there was no evidence that any of the observed cavities had ever been filled in any way.

Disease Leaves Mark "Arthritis (of which gout is a form) by producing new bone formations at the joints, leaves its indelible mark on the skeleton so that even after many centuries it may be recognized," Dr. Martin asserted in discussing other prehistoric diseases.

A number of skeletons showed signs of arthritis.

At least one of the prehistoric men suffered from osteoporosis, a disease characterized by a brittleness of the skull bones, he said.

Dr. Martin also said a number of the skulls were deformed, but did not explain why.

The most important discovery of the expedition, Dr. Martin indicated, was that of these prehistoric "cities," one built on the ruins of the other.

Shipyards Of England Busy On New Orders

Half Of World's Vessels Now Built By Great Britain

LONDON, Feb. 7.—Britain now builds more than half the world's ships. She has almost recovered her pre-war depression, according to well-informed shipping quarters.

The famous Wear yards are already building as much as in 1914, when British construction was 60 per cent of the world's new tonnage. Other areas are not yet back to pre-war records, but the Clyde is building almost as much as in 1914.

Holland put together, and the North-east coast is building more than Norway, Sweden, Denmark, the United States and Japan combined.

"The past year has been one of the best since the post-war depression," said a member of a leading firm of British shipbuilders in an interview.

When final figures for the year become available it probably will be revealed that tonnage launched and under construction in 1929 amounted to 1,500,000. The figures to hand so far show that for the first year since the war, the tonnage we have constructed as an industry for overseas customers has exceeded pre-war totals.

"The shipbuilding industries of Germany, France, Italy and Denmark have declined tremendously. Foreign shipowners have been turning steadily to British yards for their new ships. This last year they gave twice the orders given in 1928."

"Pansy Digger" Now Novel Aid To Farmer

(International News Service) MILFORD, Conn., Feb. 7.—Of all the various machinery designed to aid the farmer in the simplification of his tasks, perhaps the most novel in its duty was the Pansy Digger, that enables operatives to pack 1,000 baskets of the plants in an hour.

The invention of a local man, Edward S. Barnett, the pansy digger is a tractor propelled apparatus, is inserts a broad foot beneath the rows of pansies, raises them from the earth without disturbing the soil around the roots, and transfers them to a moving wheel which enables workers to rapidly place the plants in baskets.

FILM MAGNATE SAVED FROM RIVER

Jesse L. Lasky's first exploration trip nearly ended in tragedy for the movie magnate. While exploring a 300-mile nameless and uncharted river in southern Mexico, declared to be as swift as the treacherous Colorado, with a party of 19, a native boat capsized, hurling the occupants into the water. After a battle with the current they emerged to discover their food lost and were forced to walk for four days through virtual jungles before they reached civilization. Photo shows Lasky's mother, Mrs. Sarah Lasky, meeting him at the station in Los Angeles on his return.

RACE RELATIONS SUNDAY MESSAGE

February 9, 1930

(Contributed)

This annual observance of Race Relations Sunday is a good time for each local church to consider its relation to interracial conditions in its own community. For example, what are the local conditions as to employment for the underprivileged racial or alien groups? Every man needs to have a way to make a living. How does their treatment in the allotment of public funds for such public facilities as paved streets and lighted streets, etc., compare with that for others.

Cultural facilities of the community should extend to all citizens. Opportunities for education should belong to all alike. What are the handicaps of the women of these groups in the lack of home conveniences. Are there opportunities for work for the young women of these groups in our own community.

What are the conditions of neighborhoods in which these people live in relation to public control of vice and crime. Our churches and their members, through every agency of the community, should be actively interested in dealing with these and similar conditions. Equality of opportunity and just treatment for all the underprivileged racial and national groups in our community is quite as important for the progress of our city as it is for those who are the handicapped.

"Insulating" Soil Found In Kansas

Valuable Chemical Soil Is Discovered Along Smoky Hill River

(International News Service) LAWRENCE, Kansas, Feb. 7.—Discovery in Wallace county, Kansas, of diatomaceous soil, used in making insulating materials for heat and sound and for manufacture of cleansing powders, was announced recently by Dr. R. C. Moore professor of geology at the University of Kansas.

Dr. Moore was informed of the discovery by M. K. Elias, of the geological survey staff. The deposit, according to Kansas University geologist, extends for about two and a half miles along the north fork of the Smoky Hill river in the extreme northeast corner of Wallace county and about midway between Goodland in Sherman county and the town of Wallace.

Examinations at points where tributary creeks cut the deposit indicate it has a depth of six or seven feet and lies at elevations of about 100 feet above the river level.

The Kansas deposit, preliminary laboratory examinations indicate, is of higher grade than similar deposits in Oklahoma and Nebraska, but is not of the quality of that found near Los Angeles.

State Educational Association Arranging For Opening Of Retired Teachers Home

(International News Service) COLUMBIA, Pa., Feb. 7.—Prominent state educators named as trustees by the State Education Association meet here today to take preliminary action in the establishment of the Lloyd Mifflin Memorial Home as a retreat for retired state teachers. Plans were to be formulated at the meeting for the expenditure of $50,000 to open a unit by July.

It is valued at more than $100,000 and was accepted at the recent convention of the Education Association at New Castle when a $1,000,000 appropriation for its establishment was approved to be spent over a twenty-year period.

Members of the board of trustees of the Education Association are Dr. Edward Broome, of Philadelphia; Dr. Benjamin Graham, of Pittsburgh; Dr. R. E. Laramy, of Altoona; Dr. Francis Haas, president of Bloomsburg State Teachers College, and former state superintendent of education; Professor James Sweeney, of Elk county; Miss Jessie Gray, of Philadelphia, and Miss Ethel Buell, of Langhorne.

Dr. Lee Gilmore, president, and Dr. J. Herbert Kelley, executive secretary, of the state association, were to attend today's meeting.

HONEYMOON FOR 3 LEADS TO DIVORCE

LONDON, Feb. 7.—When Joseph Elliott took his bride on their honeymoon, he also took his brother, Mrs. Elliott charged in a summons for desertion.

Then after the honeymoon the brother continued to live with them. He had little regard for women, the wife charged, and tried to dominate her. When a child was born it was given the brother's name, unknown to Mrs. Elliott. She won a decree of support from the court.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 7.—Marion Talley has enlarged her farm in Northwestern Kansas to 1,600 acres. To the 960 acres bought last summer she has added 640 acres of wheat land immediately north of her Thomas County farm. The tract shows prospects of a big yield.

DOG KILLS SKUNK; CAT ADOPTS BABE
IRWIN, Ia., Feb. 7.—An instance of where a cat has more courage than a man, was recently demonstrated when a villager went out to see how a litter of kittens was faring. Crawling around in the middle of the litter was a tiny cock-black stranger with stripes down its back. It was a skunk which the mother cat adopted when a dog killed its mother.

For The Love Of A Girl Who Could Never Be His!

WITH the courage of a super-man, he took to his plane, and for days soared over the tangled jungles of Nicaragua to search for a man whom he believed had wronged him.

AT the risk of his own life, he held back an army of bandits to rescue this man, knowing that when he returned him safely to the Marine Flying Base, he would send him headlong into the arms of the woman he himself loved.

THE lost aviator was fascinating Ralph Graves and his rescuer, Jack Holt. If you loved a girl like lovely Lila Lee with every ounce of devotion a man can possess, and the man who had won her from you lay stricken in a fever consumed jungle, what would you do . . . ? Would you bring him back to the girl who would forever pass from your life or would you leave him to die and return alone to claim the woman for yourself . . . ?

GIRLS . . . If the man you loved, asked you to marry his best pal . . . what would your answer be . . . ? All these questions and more are convincingly answered in the FIRST ALL-TALKING ROMANCE OF THE AIR, PRODUCED BY COLUMBIA PICTURES WITH THE CO-OPERATION OF THE U. S. MARINE CORPS.

NEW CASTLE FOUR CASTLE

by
The Woman's Club - Organized in 1887.

"GOD COULDN'T BE EVERYWHERE, SO HE MADE MOTHERS."
In this proverb, even the pagan recognizes in the mother, a God appointed guardian of the race.

Our own city knows no greater need than just such guardianship or mothering—for our homes, for our schools, for our recreations and for our public housekeeping. To aid such work is the aim of this column.

Within the Literature Department of The Woman's Club is a study of the Jewish people, consisting of twelve interested women gathered together for the study of books and travel, hence the name chosen—"Seminars Club". The book under discussion at the present time is Andre Maurois "Disraeli." It is interesting to note this was the best selling nonfiction book of 1928 and that the author is a comparatively young man, being only forty-five. He lives in Paris with his wife and three children and is greatly sought after as a lecturer in both England and France. Such is his acquaintance with the English language, he was a lecturer in England during the World War.

It is interesting to trace the heritage of Benjamin Disraeli, Lord Beaconsfield, in a long line of cultured, wealthy Jews, who, upon being expelled from England with all the other Jews in the 14th century, migrated to Spain, then Venice, where they stayed over 200 years. Upon the Jews being invited to come back to England in the 17th century by Charles II, Benjamin Disraeli, the grandfather of Lord Beaconsfield, returned to London and married a rich, beautiful and cultured Jewess by whom they had one son, Isaac. The Disraelis had no religion and never associated with their own people, although Benjamin always contributed liberally to the Portuguese Jewish Synagogue.

Isaac was a dreamy, studious boy living in libraries and writing. He was well known for "Curiosities of Literature." His Mother was a forceful, ambitious woman, from whom it is interesting to trace some of the characteristics of the younger Benjamin. Isaac married a Jewess when about 35 and had two children—Sara and Benjamin, both of whom were very precocious. Later they had two other sons. The children were not reared as Jews and upon the death of their grandfather were baptized in the Church of England at the request of their grandmother.

The child Benjamin was "father to the man." He was brilliant, egotistical, vain, dreamy, imaginative and always had one strong urge—to be himself noticed. In order to make himself noticed, he dressed like a top and acted in the most arrogant manner. He had the entire to the best circles, due both to his Father's connections and his own sparkling wit. He never had any conception of money and was ever in debt.

Early in life he started to write and went into politics. After having been defeated four times, he finally won a seat in the House of Commons, as a Tory, running with Wyndham Lewis, whose wife, Mary Ann, he later married, although she was thirteen years his senior. His devotion to his wife was one of the most beautiful things in his life. He had hosts of friends among women, as he thoroughly understood them, as can be seen with his intercourse with the Queen later.

His one driving aim in life was to be Prime Minister of England. He accomplished this but it took him many years of unremitting perseverance. The first time was in 1868, but it lasted only from February to December. He was a brilliant speaker and when he spoke in the House, all listened. Gladstone and he being such exact opposites could only be enemies. During the forty years he spent in the House of Commons he championed measures for laboring men's day, the hours of children employed and better houses for the working class.

His relations with the Queen were unique. He understood her as no other Prime Minister ever did. He explained the affairs of State to her in such a way that she easily understood them. At the end of his first term as Prime Minister, the Queen Soft, wavy hair!

The modern sculptured bobs do wonders to bring out your personality. But like other present-day modes of arranging the hair, they call attention to it. That's why it's so important nowadays to keep your hair soft, lustrous, abundant. The easiest and quickest way to give new lustre and color to hair, which has begun to look dull and lifeless, is with Danderine. And it makes the hair softer, easier to arrange; holds it in place.

Here's all you do. Each time you use your brush just put a little Danderine on it. It removes the oily film from your hair; brings out its natural color; gives it more gloss than brilliantine. Waves "set" with it stay in longer.

Danderine dissolves the crust of dandruff; puts the scalp in the pink of condition. It stops falling hair. A small bottle is enough to show its merit. Start on it tonight.

offered him a peerage. This he declined for himself but accepted for his wife, who was made the Countess of Beaconsfield. He did not wish it for himself, as he preferred to stay in the House of Commons.

In 1874, he defeated Gladstone and again became Prime Minister, remaining so for six years. The greatest feat accomplished during this time was the purchase of the shares of the Suez Canal from the Khedive of Egypt. Due to his quickness of action, he forestalled France who wished to buy them, thus giving them the majority of stock. In twenty-four hours, he had borrowed from the Rothschilds 4,000,000 £, giving as security the British Empire and had concluded the deal. Shortly after this the Queen was given the title of "Empress of India."

Such was his diplomatic skill that when war broke out between Russia and Turkey in 1877, he, by journeying to Berlin and conferring with the powers there, was able to avert war. This broke down his health, as he had to act as buffer between the Queen on the one hand who insisted on going to war, and the Parliament who did not want to do so.

The previous year, he had at last accepted a peerage from the Queen and became Lord Beaconsfield.

After the death of his wife, he was a very lonely old man and he and the Queen became greater friends than ever. In 1880, he resigned as Prime Minister, as he saw his defeat by Gladstone. He retired to his country home and died the next year, greatly mourned by the Queen and his friends.

Radium Treatment To Restore Sight

BALTIMORE, Feb. 7. — Dr. William Holland Wilmer, head of the Wilmer eye institute of Johns Hopkins hospital, has found a new use for radium in treating physical defects of the eye.

Radium, used in very small quantities, has been found effective in treatment of obscure vision, blurred through formations of scar tissue in the corner.

"This use," the report says, "is in the pioneer stages, but it has been found to hasten the absorption of scar tissue and to restore a high degree of clarity to the sight of many patients."

Times haven't changed much. Back in pioneer days the pedestrian had to dodge the deadly rattler, also.

Time Asked In Forming Standards

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

My classes of parents at Cleveland college I frequently ask a number of questions about what they expect their children to do or not to do. The answers vary widely.

Now let me put some of these questions to you. I am seeking guidance just as you are. I, of course, have my private opinion about such matters just as you have; but I do not know whether I am right or wrong. No doubt you feel the same way about your own judgments in these matters.

If you are interested in helping me so that I may be of greater service to others, and if you will take the trouble to clip out this column, answering each question as you think it should be answered, you would be conferring upon me a very much appreciated service. Then I should combine the answers and report my findings back to you through these columns. Please mail your answers to me in care of this paper.

Fail To Raise Funds To Reclaim Old Mill

Only $1200 Of $10,000 Needed To Perpetuate Washington Shrine Pledged

CHARLOTTE, Pa., Feb. 7. — George Washington's grist mill at Perryopolis seems doomed to the ultimate ravages of time and progress. An effort to save the old flour mill, the sole remaining shrine in southwestern Pennsylvania to the first president, has failed with the $1200, subscribed toward a goal of $10,000 in behalf of perpetuating the shrine, returned to the subscribers by Howard Adams, vice president of the First National bank of Perryopolis.

The mill ceased operating in 1918 after 142 years of service. It was built in 1774 on the run named after Washington. Considerable damage was done to the shingle roof in 1925 by a wind storm that blew a large elm tree against the mill. The fall of the tree damaged the old wheel and destroyed part of the roof, exposing the choice oak and walnut timber of the interior to the elements.

Washington considered the mill and 100 acres of adjacent land worth $75,000. Today the "adjacent acres" are rich in coal. Washington wrote concerning the mill in 1776 to his caretaker, Valentine Simpson, in which he said he had visited the mill that

Millions Of Fish Hatched In State
Place $468,636 Value On Fish Hatched In Pennsylvania During Year

HARRISBURG, Feb. 7.—Fish valued at $468,636 were distributed last year by the fish commission in streams throughout the state. This value has been placed by the commission had the fish been purchased from commercial hatcheries. There were nearly 400,000,000 fish in the year's output.

The commission's two new hatcheries at Reynoldsdale and Lionesta will be in production during 1930 and the number of fish distributed will be materially increased this year. The policy of the board of planting hatchery fish large enough to be legally caught will be continued. The only exception will be pike perch, yellow perch and some of the lake fish.

Last year the commission distributed more than 230,000,000 fry-sized yellow perch and 109,000,000 cisco. The number of other species distributed were: Trout, 740,597; black bass, 255,905; pike perch, 20,441,420; sunfish, 829,175; catfish, 118,883; white fish, 5,160,000; blue pike, 1,237,000; frogs, 358,500.

Some Animals Show Unusual Intelligence

By JANET KISSINGER

It is expected of a horse that he understand the words "whoa, get up, see and haw," but to understand a whole conversation! Well it remained for a colt belonging to a New Castle lady to accomplish that.

Now don't say "horse feathers," for this is true and can be vouched for by a number of people. The horse was owned by Mrs. K. E. Goodrich, who at the time, lived in Mercer county.

The colt, although it belonged to her uncle, was cared for and "babied" by Mrs. Goodrich, when she was a girl. The mother of the colt had died when he colt was but a few weeks old. Instead of shooting the animal, it was decided to try to raise it.

Dave, the colt, was quite often fed lumps of sugar, and no one ever, until he was a full grown horse, ever had tried to "break" him.

One day, Dave insisted upon being given a piece of sugar before going to the barn for the night. Because of the colt's stubbornness, the owner gave it a light crack with a whip.

The dignity of the horse was hurt, very badly. When Mrs. Goodrich went into the horse's stall, patted its nose, and laughingly suggested that Dave fear up the coat of the man who whipped him, she never dreamed that the horse understood what she said. Nor did her uncle, who heard the remark.

But the next day, the coat, which was always left in the field, while Mrs. Goodrich's uncle did his chores, was found to be torn to bits. Believe it or not.

Then, another lady tells about some clever tricks of a dog belonging to Louis W. Brady of N. Mercer street. The dog is half chow and half nemo, and was given to the Brady family by Lee Calahan. It is only a couple of months old, an yet, it knows about everything that a dog could know. This dog awakened the Brady family when a fire started in the home, several weeks ago, and the fire was able to be stopped before great damage was done.

And another clever pet which really has more brains than a person would credit a bird with having, is a canary owned by Mrs. J. L. McCaskey of E. Washington street. The bird will when let out of its cage, fly to the shoulder of Mrs. McCaskey or her son, Joe McCaskey, and will sing merrily. If either Mrs. McCaskey or her son hold out their hands to the bird, it will quickly flutter over, rest on their hands, peck at their fingers, coo and sing contentedly.

But the bird doesn't like to go back in its cage, and when the time comes for it to be put back into the little prison, it becomes quite rebellious. And that isn't so dumb.

B. & O. Plans New Line To Chicago

B. & O. Has Plans For New Philadelphia-Chicago Line Which Is Shorter

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 7.—The Baltimore and Ohio railroad plans a new low-level shorter line to Chicago from Philadelphia which will cost in the neighborhood of $80,000,000. Plans for the new route have been submitted to the interstate commerce commission for approval.

Under present plans the new line would consist chiefly of a group of smaller railroads linked together with the construction of only about 72 miles of new tracks.

The project calls for the use of the Reading railroad tracks from Philadelphia to Williamsport. Then the construction of 72 miles of new tracks from Williamsport to Sinemaoning thence over the tracks of the Buffalo and Susquehanna railroad to Dubois where the line would connect with the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh railroad using their tracks to Butler, Pa., from Butler to Chicago the B. and O. would use their own tracks. The entire length of the proposed line would be 871 miles which is 41 miles shorter than the present line.

The chief benefit to the company, however, would be in the 720 feet lower point in crossing the Allegheny mountains. This would reduce the grade rise 20 per cent on eastbound traffic and 27 per cent less on westbound traffic.

More than half of the proposed line would lie within the state of Pennsylvania with 72 miles of the new tracks costing $15,000,000.

AUTOMATIC BRAKES FOR GERMAN RAILS

(International News Service)

BERLIN, Feb. 7.—About 2,000 miles of the German railroad system are now equipped with an electrical device which automatically applies the brakes to locomotives and coaches if a danger signal is passed.

Fifty-three locomotives and 1,055 cars have been equipped with the corresponding device.

More than 1,300 miles of track have been relaid with rails 94.4 feet long in place of the former 32-foot rails in order to reduce the number of parts and thus lessen the noise.

Fletcher To Head Haiti Commission

Pennsylvania Man To Be Named As Chairman Of Probers

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—Henry P. Fletcher, native of Greencastle, Pa., former under-secretary of state and American ambassador to several countries, probably will be named chairman of the commission President Hoover will send to Haiti to investigate conditions.

The president will announce the personnel of the commission—seven members at his press conference at 4 p. m. today, it was understood.

The commission probably will include a member of the senate and house.

Riots developed among the negro natives several months ago and American marines, stationed there under mandate, were forced to kill several of them before order was restored. Earlier in the week the president expressed his intention to withdraw all American troops from the republic.

A resolution authorizing the investigating commission and appropriating the necessary funds has been passed by congress.

U. S. Market Crash Aids British Trade

(International News Service)

LONDON, Feb. 7.—Lennox B. Lee, president of the Federation of British Industries, believes that Britain will derive industrial advantage from the recent financial debacle in New York.

"The Wall Street collapse," he says, "is evidence that the United States has failed to establish New York as the financial centre of the world, and this augurs well for London and the commerce of Great Britain, of which London is the financial centre."

"What is more, the cessation in the United States' demand for gold for speculative purposes will cheapen money in England, thereby enabling British traders to secure financial assistance on favorable terms."

"On the whole there is every evidence that the liquidation in America will react to our advantage."

Inter-City Meet With Butler "Y" To Draw Crowd

Host Of Participants Coming
To Compete With Locals
On Saturday.

EVENTS WILL START
PROMPTLY AT 2 P. M.

Indications are that the New Castle Y. M. C. A. building will resemble a bee's nest in some respects when the friendly competition between athletes of the Butler Y. and the local association gets started Saturday afternoon at two o'clock. It will mark an inter-association meet.

Keen rivalry exists between the two associations and the matches scheduled for tomorrow promise to offer some real activity. On January 4 the local participants journeyed to Butler and lost the day's meet by a 10-point margin. They are confident of upsetting the dope tomorrow.

Both the boys' and physical departments will be engaged tomorrow and plans for the matches and different events have been under way for the past week or so. Final eliminations will be run off today to determine who will represent New Castle in the different games that are scheduled.

Word from Butler is that they are bringing their best to challenge the local men and boys. Seventy or more will be in the party.

The games for boys, including chess, checkers, cue rouge and others, will be supervised by William Thomas, boys' work director, while all swimming events will be directed by Jack Herbert and his assistant, Jack Hulme, Westminster College instructor. Physical Director Henry Mac-Nicholas will also be in charge of certain events.

An invitation has been extended the general public to attend free of charge tomorrow, and it is anticipated that numerous townspeople will be on hand. A crowd of 200 witnessed the meet at Butler.

While the main section of the contests will get under way promptly at two, the first of the swimming races and fancy dives will not be run off until four p. m. The volley ball game is scheduled for five o'clock.

Events which will form the dish of entertainment for the competition Saturday are as follows:

Checkers: two boys under 14 and two under 18 years.

Chess: two boys under 14 and two under 18.

Cue rouge: two boys under 14 and two under 18.

Pool: two boys under 18.

Basketball: three boys' teams, under 14, 16 and 18 years.

Swimming: junior team with boys under 16 and a senior team with men as participants.

Bee Expert Speaks To Students Here

Addresses North Street Pupils
This Morning At Auditorium Exercises

In connection with the auditorium exercises at the North street building this morning, the pupils had the privilege of listening to H. T. Anderson, state bee expert, who explained how the bees gather their honey.

The subject is of interest to pupils at the building in view of the fact that they have a model bee hive in one of the rooms, which is used in their nature study work.

County Farm Agent H. R. McCulloch, who accompanied Mr. Anderson, explained to the pupils how fruit trees were grafted and budded.

Both talks were of intense interest to the students and were much appreciated.

Italian Methodists Organize New Choir

Thursday evening the musically inclined members of the Italian Methodist church met at the church and organized a choir. During the meeting officers were elected: President, Alice Fusco; secretary, Carrie San Filippo; treasurer, Josephine Ludvick; pianist, Rose Nocera.

The choir made plans to hold a social meeting every second Thursday evening of the month and on Thursday, February 13, they will meet at the home of Rev. John Ruggiero, pastor of the church.

He likes tobacco in any form, and professes a partiality for Milwaukee beer.

OFFICERS SAY FIVE CONFESS LOCAL CRIMES

did nothing to return it, except to tell his son "it was wrong to steal."

The loot included everything from jewelry to foodstuffs. Silk hosiery, sweaters, garters, bloomers, cigarettes, candy and cigars, according to the officers.

The Palmer store and Kerr jewelry shop suffered most. Several hundred dollars worth was taken from the Palmer store—enough to start a shop. Several hundred dollars worth of jewelry was taken from the Kerr shop and the safe was so badly damaged a new safe had to be bought.

Among the jewelry taken was a lodge pin with a diamond setting. This has not been recovered.

State Policeman Steinett, Troop D, Butler, questioned one of two youths held in the Butler county jail. His investigation uncovered the names of the parties who had committed the robberies here.

State police superior officers sent Steinett here and with State Policeman Shulliff and Constables Ellison and O'Brien the gang, excepting one who has disappeared was rounded up and most of the loot recovered.

The boys are now held, as is Schuffert, Sr., in cells at the Troop D barracks of the State Police at Butler and will probably be brought to this city some time today.

Make Arrests Thursday
Two New Castle boys were arrested in Butler and taken to the county jail there recently. Private Steinett of Troop D was sent to question them and in his talk one of the boys is said to have thrown light on robberies here, and further questioning developed their identities.

Steinett was sent here to secure State Policeman Shulliff, stationed in this city. The two state police with Constables Ellison and O'Brien took up the local investigation and all the boys, excepting one, apprehended late yesterday.

They were taken to Butler last night as was Schuffert, Sr., and questioned. State police say they admitted their part in the robberies. State Police said they would swear to the informations against the five who will be returned here today.

Nothing escaped the eyes of the youths, evidently and in some stores, two trips were made on the same night.

At Palmer's store they got considerable food merchandise and a small amount of money. It is said the entire loss there will total several hundred dollars.

Foodstuffs were taken from Neesses and $45 stolen from one Gulf Refining station.

Nothing was found at the Waverly station but $10 cash was stolen from the Sterling station.

Foodstuffs and merchandise was stolen at Stevensons and $5.00 from Quinn's store.

In Young's store the boys took foodstuffs, turkeys and chickens and from the Penzell station $15 in cash, flashlights, gloves, a wristwatch, cigars and cigarettes were part of the loot.

Kerr's jewelry store lost jewelry which totalled to the cost of a new safe brought a probable loss of about $400.

Council To Hear Officer's Defense

February 17 Is Designated As Time For Hearing For Officer Lewellyn

Mayor William H. Gillespie today formally presented to city council which convened in the city building a report that he had suspended Patrolman Thomas Lewellyn on charges of conduct unbecoming an officer. He was suspended February 4, the mayor said. Council designated 10 a. m. February 17, as the time the suspended patrolman will have the right to appear with counsel and combat the charges if he desires.

According to the mayor the alleged conduct unbecoming an officer occurred on January 27.

"The mayor said that an affidavit in support of the charges is in his possession."

After receiving the mayor's report, council immediately set the date for the proposed hearing.

Mayor Gillespie refused to name the accuser or make the affidavit public.

Czech Announces Flight To Moon

(International News Service)
PRAGUE, Feb. 7.—Another ambitious project to fly to the moon is announced by Thomas Ocenasek, a Czech engineer and inventor.

Ocenasek wants to construct a rocket capable of carrying nine persons with which and whom he hopes to make the trip to the moon in 87 hours.

The first attempt, he says, is to be made this spring.

The craft is to be equipped with six individual rockets which will hurtle it through space by being shot off one after the other. Three rockets are to shoot it to the moon and the other three back again to the earth. At the approach of one of the other planets, the terrific speed of the craft is to be checked by a brake rocket to make a possible an easy and safe landing.

Ocenasek says he wants to take nine persons on this trip. He and his seven place are now open for booking. Two prospective passengers have already booked passage. One is Herr Max Deutsch, of Olmuetz, and the other is a student from Pressburg whose name is not given.

Ocenasek's plans for his craft are based on the principle of Professor Hermann Oberth, who wanted to construct as a first step toward interplanetary travel, a small rocket that would cover the distance between Europe and America in one hour.

This project was to be financed by the Ufa, the biggest German movie concern, which at the time was showing a movie entitled "The Woman in the Moon" in which a rocket trip to the moon played the biggest part.

Later, however, financial difficulties developed. Professor Oberth suffered a nervous breakdown and the project was abandoned.

Old Pilgrimage Is Set For July

(International News Service)
AACHEN, Feb. 7.—The traditional pilgrimage to Aachen whose venerable cathedral contains four of the most sacred relics of the Roman Catholic church will take place again from July 10 to 24.

Formerly the pilgrimages were held every seven years but the war interrupted them and since then only one extraordinary pilgrimage was held in 1925.

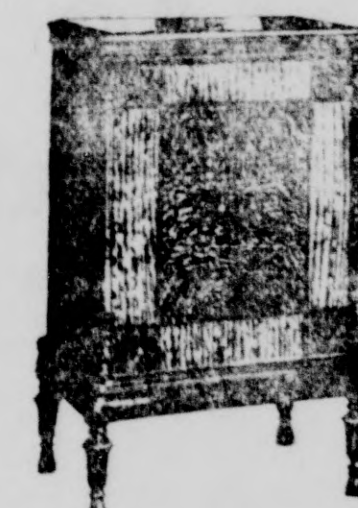

They were first instituted by Charlemagne who was crowned in the Aachen cathedral in 800 and in the 14th century the custom of holding them every seventh year began.

In the 14th and 15th centuries only Rome, San Iago di Compostella and Jerusalem could boast such a great number of pilgrims. They came in such numbers in Germany, Austria, Bohemia and Hungary that special inns and hospitals were erected along the main routes to care for them.

In 1874 more than 60,000 pilgrims came on each of the two successive Sundays and 1881 more than 158,000 were recorded on three Sundays.

The fact that Aachen has finally been liberated from occupation by foreign troops after more than ten years it is expected to bring a vast number of visitors in July.

On Monday, February 3, the Junior class was dismissed early so that they might choose their class rings and pins. They had no trouble in choosing them for the whole class voted for the same ones. The Juniors are anxiously awaiting the arrival of their rings.

The Junior class play, entitled "The Hoodoo," has been selected. The cast has not as yet been arranged. Andy Kotchmar returned to school on Tuesday, February 4, after a long absence due to a broken leg which he received during the football season. Although he still uses crutches, he is able to attend his classes, and his fellow-students are rejoicing in his recovery.

During the activity period on Tuesday afternoon the Arts and Crafts club continued their work on sand-paper silhouettes, which are made by first painting on the designs with black lacquer, then they are mounted and bound.

An entertainment prepared by Francis Bartolone occupied the period for the Dramatic club.

The Junior High Athletic club introduced the new game known as "Side-Kick-Ball."

This is the first year of basketball for the seventh grade and they have played fairly well under the circumstances.

On Wednesday, February 5, the Mt. Jackson eighth grade was to meet the Bessemer eighth grade in a basketball game at Bessemer but at the last moment the game was cancelled by Mt. Jackson and also the second game which was to have been played at Mt. Jackson.

On Wednesday, February 5, the Columbiana high school basketball team engaged in a game with the Bessemer boys and girls team. Old Childhood Pals Both Die Same Day

(International News Service)
SANDWICH, Mass., Feb. 7.—Buddies in their childhood, who splashed in the same swimming hole, attended the same little old school house, and who later shared the same problems of manhood, have passed away here, both on the same day.
Edward Pope, 72, and Benjamin Hartley, 73, who lived similar lives, passed away similarly. Both died suddenly, and almost simultaneously. Adding to the sadness of the town, three other grand old men have passed away the same week. But the accidental death of Pope and Hartley, because of their similarity in life and death stands out as the town's chief sorrow.

Hartley, who was failing in health for some time, died in Pocasset hospital. He was born in Sandwich and lived practically his entire life here. He was engaged in the dry goods business for 45 years and retired only three years ago. He is survived by his widow and two sons.
At the age of 17, Pope entered the employ of R. H. White company, leaving subsequently to become a salesman for C. F. Hovey, both firms of Boston. In his early thirties he became a buyer for the Arnold Constable company, of New York, where he remained for some years. Pope afterwards became buyer for Fried, Mendelson company, of Milwaukee, remaining there until a year before his death when he retired. He leaves besides his widow, a son, a brother and two sisters.

New Style Cake Serving Plate

two packages of
Pillsbury's Cake Flour

A million women have found the flour for perfect cakes!

When more than a million women adopt a new cake flour within a single year, you may be sure that this cake flour will do some surprising things for you!

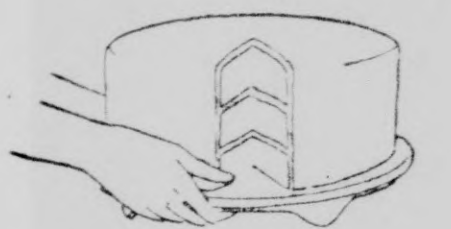

Here, at last, is a cake flour which women pronounce perfect. Baking tests show that Pillsbury's Cake Flour possesses three distinct superiorities: (1) It makes a cake that rises higher—a lighter, fluffier, more delicate cake. (2) It makes a cake with a soft, fine texture, the sort that really melts in your mouth. (3) It makes a cake that stays moist and fresh longer.

No matter how expert a cake maker you may be, you'll find a new pleasure in using this improved cake flour. Pillsbury's Cake Flour is made from a new blend of certain rare types of wheat, unusually soft, milled to a silky fineness. Test it for yourself—try it with the most delicate, difficult recipe you know—it will prove its value before you have used the first package!

Pillsbury's Cake Flour

Look for the above display on your grocer's counter tomorrow

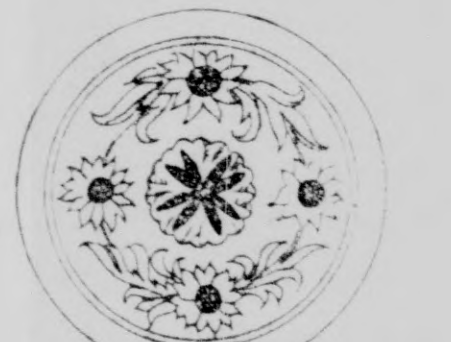

Here is a new idea in cake plates—and a most sensible idea. It stands up from the table, on three little legs—you can slip your fingers under the edge, and carry your cake without touching the frosting. Also, it is perfectly flat on top—your cake cannot sag in the middle, as it sometimes does when placed on an ordinary curved plate. It is made of delicately colored glass, in a graceful, attractive design. The top carries a beautifully traced figure, worked out in light lines. It is extremely ornamental—and just as practical as it is good-looking. Your grocer will give you one free with the purchase of two packages of Pillsbury's Cake Flour.

Will Open Office For Income Tax Collection Soon

E. O. Hawk, Deputy Collector, Will Be Stationed In L. S. And T. Building

Announcement is made today by the International Revenue Service of the Treasury Department, that the local office for the accommodation of local residents who must pay income taxes or file returns, will be opened in the Lawrence Savings and Trust company building on February 17.

The office will be kept open here until March 15 for the benefit of New Castle residents. Mr. Hawk will probably be assisted by several other deputies from the Pittsburgh office during the time the office is maintained here.

Mr. Hawk is stationed in New Castle permanently, but no office is maintained, except during the period immediately prior to the final date for filing returns. The business during this period is quite heavy, and this year is expected to prove no exception.

Hold Age No Bar To Executive Jobs

Employment Experts Find Men At 60 Are Competent

CLEVELAND, Feb. 7.—Two assurances that will help the American workers rest a little easier were offered at the conferences of the American Management association here.

One is that age up to about sixty makes little difference in the employment of an executive, and the other is that the difficulty of a person over forty-five obtaining a job has been considerably exaggerated.

Murray W. Latimer of the Industrial Relations Counselors, Inc., New York, cited government figures to indicate that in industry employment of men above forty-five has been increasing for at least forty years, and in certain industries the increase has been rapid.

"For example, in the steel industry the proportion of persons forty-five to fifty-four has increased 61 per cent. in twenty years; from fifty-five to sixty-four, 142 per cent., and sixty-five and over, 143 per cent," he said.

"In four employment offices in Massachusetts in 1928 a study revealed that there was no discrimination against older persons until the age of fifty-five, and that persons fifty-five to sixty-four had on the average about three-fourths as much chance of obtaining a job as a person under thirty-five." He also cited a survey of companies employing three million workers in which the same general conclusion was reached.

So much publicity regarding age limits has been due to the decline of employment in manufacturing and railroad industries, he said, adding that periods of unemployment have always affected older persons more severely.

"A good executive is a good executive whether he can play golf or not or whether he is forty or sixty," J. P. Jordan of New York told the conference. "Age in numerous instances provides a positive argument in favor of employment as executives."

He warned them, however, to keep physically and mentally in trim.

Calls University School For Wives

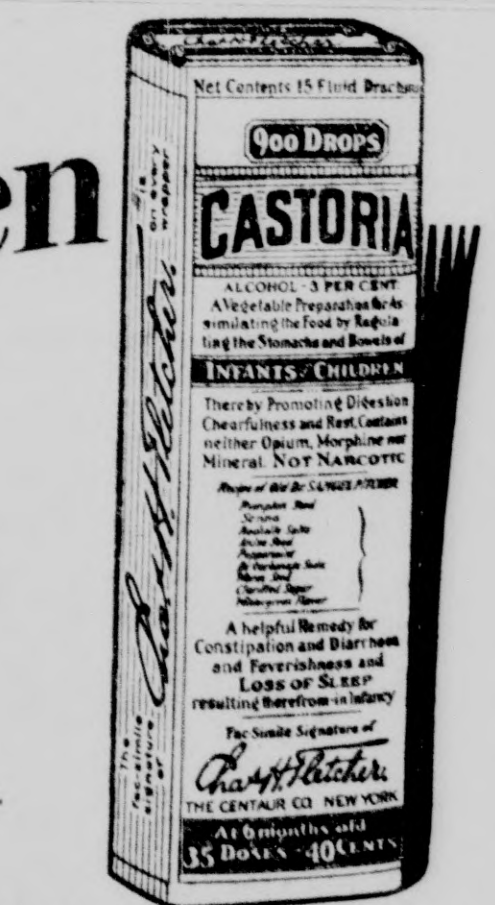

(International News Service)
NORMAN, Okla., Feb. 7.—If a man gets a wife who can't cook, he sends her to school to learn. But if he's smart he has her learn the art before the final knot is tied.

University of Oklahoma women know this, says Dr. Helen B. Burton, director of the school of home economics. A third of the seniors enrolled in home economics are either married or engaged, she has found.

Some of these married students do their required laboratory work at home rather than in the university practice house. Their work is carefully checked by an instructor and credit is based on her opinion.

Children hate to take medicine as a rule, but every child loves the taste of Castoria. And this pure vegetable preparation is just as good as it tastes; just as bland and harmless as the recipe reads. (The wrapper tells you just what Castoria contains.)

When Baby's cry warns of colic, a few drops of Castoria has him soothed, asleep again in a jiffy. Nothing is more valuable in diarrhea. When coated tongue or bad breath tell of constipation, invoke its gentle aid to cleanse and regulate a child's bowels. In colds or children's diseases, use it to keep the system from clogging. Your doctor will tell you Castoria deserves a place in the family medicine cabinet until your child is grown. He knows it is safe for the tiniest baby; effective for a boy in his teens. With this special children's remedy handy, you need never risk giving a boy or girl medicine meant for grown-ups. Castoria is sold in every drug store; the genuine always bears Chas. H. Fletcher's signature.

Eight Captured In Philadelphia And New York
By Police

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 7.—A national swindle gang operating among wealthy victims was believed broken up today with the arrest of eight alleged members of the syndicate. Four of the suspects were seized in New York and the other four in Philadelphia yesterday.

The gang, it is said, had operated almost exclusively in Pennsylvania and New Jersey during the last few months, obtaining more than $100,000 from the victims. The gang used everything in the grafter's art from the old shell game, petty swindling and money making machines.

The quartet arrested here gave their names as:

The arrests came about through the work of a quartet of Philadelphia detectives who have been engaged in trailing them down for the past three months.

Four of the men are reported to have confessed.

The gang is known to have operated in Bethlehem, Camden, N. J., Pittsburgh, Newark, Indianapolis, Gary, Chicago, St. Louis, Dayton, Akron Cincinnati and Youngstown, O.

Saw a mighty catchy slogan that was dipped into the top of a picture of a beautiful mountain-top scene in America. The slogan that was gracefully dipped into the top of that picture was: "You Sing America, Why Not See It?"

There is a chant that rings in our ears as it is echoed from chamber of commerce, rotary, booster, kwanis clubs etc. That chant is—"Sing New Castle." We would finish it to a slogan "You Sing New Castle, Why Not See It?"

Since New Castle is the product of the work of its people we look about to see what they have built that we should sing. We see buildings—some fine, more that are not. Buildings, however, only house the real city that is ours.

We look not at but in the churches to find the religion that makes us a God-fearing people; into the temple of justice to find the law that protects; into the business places to find the locked steps of enterprise; into the hospital to find mercy at work; into the school to see citizenship in mold; into the home to see love pressing character into form.

Yet—we have not seen New Castle.

School Directors Sued Over Contract

Mercer County Man, Given Contract For Hauling Pupils, Takes Matter To Court

MERCER, Pa., Feb. 7.—One of the cases of interest that will be heard at the term of Common Pleas Court this month will be that of H. L. Morrison vs. Frank Redfoot, president, Frank Hodge, secretary, W. S. McConnell, M. R. Zahner and Harry Eber, directors of the Jefferson township school.

The case grew out of an argument over the closing of one of the schools and the re-opening of the next year. Morrison had been engaged to transport the children to the school by the school board, which was closed after the contract was made with him. Following the closing of the school the school board notified Morrison that his services would not be needed, and he is now suing to recover on the contract.

There is also an appeal from a surcharge against the board for repairs made on the school before the court at the present time.

Baptist Leader Is Candidate for Senate

The Reverend H. G. Dorsett, hotel-keeper and Baptist leader of Wake Forest, N. C., is a candidate for the U. S. Senate on the Republican ticket, to succeed F. M. Simmons, a Democrat. Dorsett says that he will defeat the custom that a poor man cannot be elected to a high public office in North Carolina.

Alliance Tabernacle Hears Talk On China

Missionary Conference Increases In Interest And Attendance Each Night

Increasing interest and attendance is being shown each night at the missionary meeting being held in the Alliance Gospel Tabernacle, 210 Pearson street.

Music of an especially rousing character is being presented before each service. Thursday evening the Young People's society gave a chorus selection and Mrs. Grover H. Byerley of Youngstown, sang a solo, "Is There Any One Can Help Us." This evening Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Jenkins will have special vocal numbers.

Rev. W. G. Davis of Central China, gave a most interesting talk on the peculiarities of the Chinese language, pointing out the fact that the first printing press was made and used in China centuries before America was in existence. He also gave some information about Buddhism and Confucianism, pointing out that these religions have no power within them to redeem from sin, as has the Gospel of Jesus Christ. "The gospel without modification is what these people need," said Dr. Davis.

Dr. E. Ralph Hooper, for years associate pastor of the Toronto Gospel Tabernacle, brought the gospel message of the evening, using "Knowledge of God's Word" as his theme. The point he brought out was that old and young need the knowledge of God's word to keep them out of temptation in this day and age.

Miss Helen Sherwood, of French West Africa will speak tonight on "Conditions and life in Africa and Dr. Hooper will again bring the gospel message. Prayer meeting from 10 to 11 each morning. Sunday night will mark the close of the meetings.

Columbus Woman Has Many Relatives In Ministry And Missionary Work

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 7.—Mrs. W. R. Ballard can claim more ecclesiastical connections perhaps than any other person in the state. Seventeen members of her immediate family have forsaken worldly occupations for a religious state.

Mrs. Ballard, who lives in Linden, a Columbus suburb, was the daughter of a minister, the late Rev. J. M. Grether. Her husband formerly was a minister and an uncle also was a clergyman. Six brothers followed in the footsteps of their father, one of whom died before he had completed his studies. The other five, Alfred Grether, of Defiance, O.; William Grether, Loveland, Col.; Frank Grether, Franklin, Wis.; George Grether, Wisconsin; and Fred Grether, Illinois, are still actively engaged in their religious vocations.

The sons of the minister-father likewise gave six sons to the ministry. In addition, the Revs. Alfred and William Grether, allowed their two daughters to depart when the voice of foreign missions called. One daughter, Helen, is in Bagdad and Ullalia; the other is in Egypt.

La Fayette's Offer Related In Paper

(International News Service.)
CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Feb. 7.—The generosity of the Marquis de La Fayette, youthful French nobleman who forsook his native land to tender his sword to Washington, is told in the now faded and yellow pages of an issue of the Westmoreland Republican and Farmers' Chronicle dated July 10, 1829.

Faithfully chronicled in the paper is an item telling of the impulsive Frenchman disposing of certain of his lands in the United States in order to help discharge the debts of President James Monroe.

His paper is owned by Mrs. Margaret Hyatt, of Conneltsville. Its pages contain an interesting commentary on the changing from the old order of Colonial times to the hustle and bustle of 1930.

Considerable space was devoted to a vivid description of the wiping out of a rattlesnake nest in which a Jefferson County man had killed 140 snakes. The feature article was a story by Washington Irving titled "The Prize of the Village."

neurtitis, they want to help others, so they tell the public about the remarkable merits of this successful compound. That is why so many people are endorsing Ten Herbs in the daily newspapers. No wonder there is such a great demand for Ten Herbs at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 East Washington Street, this city, where this popular preparation is being introduced.

There is no other medicine so good as Ten Herbs for a weak, nervous, run-down condition, or stomach trouble," was the recent statement of Mrs. Laura Shaffer, 130 1/2 Quest St., New Castle. "I speak from experience as your medicine caused a great improvement in my health. I felt worn-out all the time, and there were pains in my arms and head. My stomach was so badly disordered that certain kinds of food caused great distress. My appetite was poor, and I was so nervous that I could not sleep well. I was also troubled with constipation.

"I read about Ten Herbs in the paper, and started using your medicine. Before long that worn-out feeling, headaches, and pains in my arms and head disappeared. My stomach got in such a condition that I could eat anything without having distress afterwards. My nerves were benefited, and then I could get sound, restful sleep. Constipation was corrected. I gladly endorse Ten Herbs to the public because of the way it ended my ailments.

Ten Herbs consists of ten wonderful herbal ingredients, which cleanse the system of old poisons, waste matter, impurities and troublesome gas, and bring feelings of new health and strength over the body in general. Remember, every claim made for Ten Herbs is backed by a mass of evidence on file, including signed statements of many men and women of this section.

Ten Herbs is being introduced at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 East Washington Street, this city, and is sold at all drug and medicine stores throughout this entire section.

Sea Water May Soon Be Useful For Fertilizing

(International News Service.)
LOS ANGELES, Feb. 7.—Electric currents soon may compel sea water to give back the valuable fertilizing elements it has drained from the soil.

That was the hope expressed by Thomas W. Hicks, inventor of agricultural machinery and medalist of the Royal Agricultural Society of Great Britain.

Hicks had just finished test for a system of purifying sea water so it can be used for direct irrigation of farm lands. He was preparing to try out the device on a large scale.

Irrigation Problem

Success in the experiments, it was believed, would forever solve the question of where to find water for irrigation.

Reclamation of desert near the ocean is not too high above the tide for pumping would become simple, Hicks declared.

"The food-producing possibilities of the land would become practically unlimited and world population growth could go on without a check for centuries.

"Hicks' invention, according to farm experts, strikes at the geological basis of agriculture—the tendency of rains and flowing streams to wash from the soil the essential minerals of plant growth.

"The oceans are huge reservoirs of suspended mineral wealth. Since the continents were pushed above the primeval seas, the robbing of the soil by 'leaching' has been in progress.

Soil Chemistry

Soil chemistry, an important part of scientific agriculture, is concerned solely with solving the problem of the return to the dirt of the growth elements taken from it by water and by growing things.

"Hicks' declaration that he found the salt in sea water was not directly harmful to plant life.

"The salt crystallizes among the particles of the soil and causes a crust that handicaps growth," he said.

"I now found it possible to utilize the nitrates, phosphates and other fertile minerals without extracting them from the sea water. The progress is one of crystallizing the salt still in solution."

Pedestrians Plan To Protect Rights

(International News Service.)
HARTFORD, Feb. 7.—Pedestrian associations are some of the needs of the day, according to Robbins B. Stoeckel, state commissioner of motor vehicles.

"Pedestrians have not organized as have other human participants in traffic, yet their needs in traffic are substantially greater than those of any other group," said Mr. Stoeckel. "There are no Pedestrian associations, yet the pedestrian ought to stand up for his rights and see that whatever money is necessary is spent to secure protection."

Commissioner Stoeckel's call for pedestrian "lobbying" is amplified by his statement:

"Management of pedestrian traffic has thus far been assumed by cities and towns. It appears that this is the ideal disposition of this activity because a pedestrian is not usually apt to be far from home and he has his needs in mind better than anyone else. He can gather his friends and neighbors who are in a similar situation, and call for the building of sidewalks and the establishment of safety rules for his own particular welfare.

"The automobile is not entitled to exclusive consideration it has had in matters of traffic management," the commissioner insists. To prove his assertion of a minority that controls a great majority he points out the Connecticut situation where "in a resident population of 1,650,000 or more there are only 320,000 registered motor vehicles and a shifting non-resident population of ten per cent." Then Commissioner Stoeckel calls attention to "35,000 horses, 70,000 dogs, uncertain numbers of cattle, pigs, cats and chickens; bicycles, tractors, trolleys, and trains at grade crossings which add to the total of highway users."

School Methods Today Are Like Noisy Elevator

Carnegie Foundation Committee Denounces Present Day Methods

SAYS NEW STANDARDS MUST BE DEVELOPED

(International News Service)

BOSTON, Mass., Feb. 7.—"Education methods today are like a creaking elevator which raises the children from one level to another, instead of a ladder up which they might climb under their own power."

Such was the contention of Dr. Benjamin D. Wood, member of the Carnegie Foundation committee for the advancement of teaching, expressed at a conference of Boston educators on Educational Measurement.

Dr. Wood, formerly a research professor at Columbia Teachers college, stated that the so-called criminal "must be proved guilty in court before he can be sentenced to the curriculum of the penitentiary."

"But the child is condemned in advance, and, by our compulsory school laws, is fed into the regulations of the school curriculum," he said.

Need New Methods.

"To remedy this situation we need to use instruments of measure with more care, and make many more observations before we have a right to tell students what or what not to study. The units of mental measurement are not yet perfected nor completed. Children are condemned in advance by the school curriculum."

The Carnegie study with which Dr. Wood is affiliated includes 6,000 junior high school students, 30,000 high school seniors and all the college students in the state of Pennsylvania. This group is trying to ascertain what students learn. This is not being accomplished by single tests here and there or isolated surveys, but by an accumulating study of individuals over a period of at least seven years, he said.

The first teacher in the world, Dr. Wood declared, was the first mother who cradled a lullaby to her baby in a cave.

Must Study Pupils.

"Medical men long ago found that they must know their patient before they can help him. So they studied their patients. The first duty of a teacher is not to teach, but to learn her pupils. Doctors do not prescribe the same remedy to all sick patients in a hospital."

"Children's educational needs are far different from physical ills. The situation in the teaching profession is much more complex than it is in the medical profession. We must keep records of accurate information concerning the individual pupil over a period of years. In this way we can show his progressive developments in comparable terms, making a record that will be invaluable as a guide in all later dealings with the individual."

Organize Class In Stewardship

Thursday night at the home of Frank Brennan, 418 Garfield avenue, the young people of the Highland U. P. church organized a class in "stewardship" with T. A. Gilkey as teacher.

Mr. Gilkey was present and gave the young people an interesting talk on the subject, taking up "Possession of Land" as his theme. He went back in the history of the country and stated that through our money we take possession of a piece of ground, and legally and according to the standards of the world it is ours, but we die and it passes from one generation to another and we really are tenants and it is just in our care as long as life lasts, but cannot be transported when it comes to the last day.

Great interest was manifested in Mr. Gilkey's talk and the young folks look forward to the further meetings.

Skeletons Indicate An Early Settlement

LONDON, Feb. 7.—The discovery of more than 40 skeletons on the Hog's Back, near Guildford, Surrey, has revealed that there was once a large Saxon settlement there.

It was thought, when first the skeletons were unearthed, that they were the remains of malefactors hanged on the gibbet which once stood there. But further excavating resulted in finds of great interest, including a perfectly preserved drinking vessel and a spear-head and ferrule. From these British Museum authorities are able to place the date of burial somewhere between 600 and 650 A. D.

Among the skeletons are some of very large men, several measuring over six feet.

GOOD YEAR

TEST No. 2

If you are ever going to buy a tire

you should see these tests. They show you what to demand from a tire's TREAD and CARCASS in order to get the most of TRACTION, SAFETY, MILEAGE.

Two easy tests—so simple a child can understand—demonstrate before your eyes the definite superiority of Goodyear Tires.

Test No. 1: Press your palm down on the Goodyear All-Weather Tread and feel how the deep-cut sharp-edged blocks grip and pinch the flesh. That is what the Goodyear Tread does on the surface of the road, and why it has superior traction.

Test No. 2: This machine shows you the 60% greater stretch in Goodyear SUPERTWIST Cord. This extra stretch gives the Goodyear Supertwist Carcass its extra life, enabling it to withstand road shocks and continuous flexing without premature failure.

THE PROOF that Goodyear Tires carry this superiority into actual service is seen in this fact: MORE PEOPLE RIDE ON GOODYEAR TIRES THAN ON ANY OTHER KIND.

It doesn't matter whether you are going to buy now or at some distant day. We want you to see these interesting tests now. Come in and make them for yourself—you will not be asked to buy.

We carry the complete Goodyear line—every Goodyear is made with SUPERTWIST—and our prices are lowest

No Hope Yet For Settling Strike Of Taxi Drivers

Pittsburgh Has Been Almost Taxi-Less For Past Month,
Result Of Strike

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Feb. 7.—Striking drivers and the Parmelee Transportation Corporation, proprietors of the Yellow Cab and Green Cab Co., continued unagreed here today in the matter of settling the strike which has kept Pittsburgh almost completely "taxi-less" for the past month.

Another meeting of the strikers is scheduled Sunday, but no announcement as to how they plan to forward their cause or break the deadlock was forthcoming.

Sporadic outbreaks of brick throwing and "breakers" beating continue to mark the strike, with no very serious injuries reported.

Broadway Revives Operettas Of Pre-Saxophone Days

By DAVID P. SENTNER
International News Service
Dramatic Editor
(Copyright, 1930, by International News Service)

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—Broadway is having an attack of those fluffy operettas of yesteryear when Mamie was a flapper of the corset period.

"The Chocolate Soldier," blown to one side by these gusty modern musical jazzettas, is being revived. A bespectacled, plain-looking man, Oscar Straus, the famous Viennese composer, saw his brain-child at the opening night before entraining for Hollywood.

The audience furnished its greatest tribute to the composer by spontaneously humming "My Hero" each time the melody was played.

There was a theme song to conjure with. In those days when only basketball players rolled their stockings, a courtship without "My Hero" was no courtship worth mentioning.

The sweet young thing would plot for weeks to lure her beau close to her piano stool where she could archly croon this melody romantic.

The he-men of the period, who meant business, would inevitably bring their "steadies" within the magical influence of this song. What girl of tender sentiments could reject a suitor under the circumstances?

The butcher, baker, confectioner, florist and parsons were also hearty devotees of this plaintive tune.

Another old-fashioned hit extracted from the attic is "Sari," the Hungarian operetta. And Mitzi, the singing firefly, appears in it as flashing and vavacious as when she made it her springboard of fame.

But while Mitzi is the same spicy, piquant operetta star, the production is not unlike gingerale without the ginger.

Times have changed, as any geologist of parts will tell you. Saucy references to the tango and turkey trot, belong to that era when a radio announcer was as strange as a hip-flask. Music may be everlasting but humor is as evanescent as styles.

Which indicates that you can revive a play but you cannot resuscitate it.

Women Learning Makeup Tricks

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Feb. 7.—Parisienne women and American flappers are learning new tricks of eye makeup from the veiled woman of the French Colonies of northern Africa, where the only part of a woman's face visible are her eyes, and hence she attempts to make them as attractive as possible.

This was the declaration of Ruth D. Maurer, of New York, beauty specialist, who said that modern women's tight fitting hats crush the muscles around the eyes. Women form a squinting habit and soon tiny wrinkles appear, unless the eyes are exercised properly.

Gentle manipulation of the facial area around the eyes will aid in indicating the wrinkles, she explained, as well as the application of shadow creams.

French Courts Settle Painter's Estate

(International News Service)

PARIS, Feb. 7.—Rene Degas, brother of the famous painter and his sole heir, himself left two families, and a French court has decided that the children of both marriages have equal rights in their father's estate.

The right of the children of the second marriage was brought into question because Degas remarried after obtaining a divorce.

At the time, divorce was not legal in France. Therefore the children of the first marriage claimed that the children of the second marriage should be barred from inheriting.

The courts have now held that the second wife married in good faith and that therefore her children should inherit. The case of the children of the second Mrs. George Jay Gould against the Jay Gould estate has been discussed here as being similar in nature to the Degas case, though no one here seems to know what ruling was made by American courts charged with a decision.

Paris Sports Skirts 15 Inches Off Floor

Street Clothes Drop To 12 Inches And Evening Dresses Billow At Feet

PARIS, Feb. 7.—American buyers of women's clothes are not agreed on the best length for sport skirts so far. But the average skimmers down to something like 15 to 13 inches from the floor, which is slightly below the top of the calf.

Street and tailored clothes average an inch more, bringing them within a foot of the ground. Afternoon dresses range from the top of the calf to ankle length.

And the evening dresses are growing longer and longer. They no longer stop at the floor at some houses but fold around the feet in billows and folds.

An Englishman who is dressmaker for the court of St. James's but also operates in Paris is responsible for the longest dresses dragged through salons thus far. Ruched tulle skirts yards wide are his contributions to the mode. As this man is the favorite dressmaker of Queen Mary, his ideas are taken seriously.

New Corn Type To Beat Frost

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Feb. 7.—The Connecticut agricultural experiment station has announced the development of a new corn crop which will escape damages of September frosts by maturing in 100 to 110 days' time. It will be placed on the market this spring for the first time.

The new product, developed by Dr. Donald F. Jones, is a cross between a Leaning Dent and a Canada Yellow Plant and has been named the "Canada-Leaning." The station predicts it will be of commercial value to dairymen.

The Canada-Leaning is described by the station as a product which matures early, develops a tall, broad stalk eight to nine feet high and produces a heavy grain yield.

PRaises AMERICANS FOR PUNCTUALITY

(International News Service)

PARIS, Feb. 7.—American punctuality in the theatres greatly impressed Edouard Bourdet, French author and playwright, during his recent visit to the other side. He is trying to persuade theatre directors here to follow the same plans. He also liked the girl-ushers who did not expect tips.

Monsieur Bourdet, author of the celebrated "Prisonniers," says that he found a great scarcity of masculine actors in New York, while in Paris, it is the women who are few and far between. He was amused at the American love for a happy ending. The French public obliges it to be local at least.

Census Bureau Bars Gossiping In 1930 Count

By ALFRED T. NEWBERRY
International News Service Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—The men who will take the census of the nation's population and other data are going to be serious. Some may greet the residents with a smile but that will be all. There will be no gossiping and if the residents keep bees they must volunteer that information themselves.

The enumerator will not subject himself to ridicule and laughter by asking "how many hives you own and how much honey do you produce." "Unless the enumerator feels reasonably sure of an affirmative answer he will not take the trouble to inquire whether a man has bees or not," J. I. Hambleton, apiculturist in charge of the bee culture division of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, said.

Paid For Visits

He said full responsibility for collecting reliable figures can not be placed upon the Bureau of the Census and its thousands of helpers who will start taking the census April 1. The enumerators will be paid on the basis of the number of places he visits and persons interviewed.

"Naturally enough the enumerators are not going to ask every town and city dweller, and perhaps every farm dweller, whether he keeps bees," Hambleton asserted.

State and county beekeeping organizations should cooperate with the census takers, he said, and advise residents of their communities to give accurate data concerning the extent of their bee-keeping.

If reliable figures are not collected in 1930 it will mean that the bee-keeping industry must wait another ten years for an idea of its scope, Hambleton said. Meanwhile it would have to continue making efforts to improve the distribution and marketing of honey without knowing where or how much honey is produced.

Counting Bees

"Bee-keeping has changed greatly in the last ten years," he said. This is due largely to the fact that many large commercial bee-keepers now reside in towns and villages or metropolitan areas of the larger cities, sometimes far away from their bees.

"Quite obviously the farm owner who leases to an urban bee-keeper a small piece of ground in some out-of-the-way place on the back of his farm, is not expected to know, particularly if he is not a bee-keeper himself, the number of colonies or the quantity of honey produced, and cannot be expected to give the census enumerator the best kind of an answer as to the number of colonies and the pounds of honey produced by bees that are not his own."

Too Much Whoopee Causes "Flunking"

SIoux CITY, Ia., Feb. 7.—An investigation to unearth causes why students "flunk out" of college which promises to be as searching as the Carnegie institute investigation regarding college athletics is being made by officials of Morningside college here.

"Too much 'whoopee' heads the list of causes. Others are listed in order of their importance. Lack of interest in college work; too little money; too much outside work and 'just plain dumbness,' and unfamiliarity to adopt the college environments.

The investigation is being directed by F. E. Mossman, president of the college; Myron Graber, dean of men, and Miss Lillian Dimmitt, dean of women.

Old French Nurse Recalls 1870 Battle

(International News Service)

PARIS, Feb. 7.—At a recent celebration at Champigny, on the outskirts of Paris, round the memorial erected to a battle fought in 1870, among those present was one of the nurses who had served in those far-off days.

Madame Caroline Frank, learned all she knew about dressing wounds from her family doctor. At the outbreak of that war she joined the "Societe de France" as the army nurses were called in those days and was placed in the front lines.

This nonagenarian nurse recalls that it was so cold on one December morning, the day of the battle, that she had to wear six petticoats, a rain-proof cape and alcohol to protect her head from the wind.

At the outbreak of the "Great War" she was in England, but at the first news, she packed her belongings and came over to enroll. She was then 77. Much to her grief, her services were refused because of her great age. Even now Madame Frank considers that the Americans were wrong in not availing themselves of her help.

MUSKRAT TRAPPERS ARE REAPING HARVEST

CLYDE, N. Y., Feb. 7.—Down here, where the Montezuma swamp lands begin, muskrat trappers have paraphrased the exclamation of that rustic character of the gold rush days to make it read, "That's gold in them thar marshes!"

With the trapping season at its turning point, visions of a $200,000 harvest loom brightly to those who seek pelts of muskrats. Estimations of the half-way mark in the three-month season indicate that more than $100,000 worth of pelts already have been taken by those who make a big business of trapping.

Hound Shows His Dislike For Remaining On Cake Of Ice In Neshannock River

(By JANET KISSINGER)

It is the squeaky wheel that gets the grease, and it is the howling dog who gets the attention—we will attribute that saying to Shakespeare, 'cause it is clever, no doubt.

One of our New Castle hound dogs got himself into a jam, Thursday, but he was a fervent and energetic yowler and so he was soon helped up by two of the city police officers.

In some unknown way, this dog had gotten below the East Washington street bridge, on the strip of ice covering one side of the Neshannock river. One theory is that the big hound was being chased by an angry dog or cat and was forced to make the leap. Another theory is that the dog tried to commit suicide, because of intense annoyance by fleas.

But in either case, it was apparent by the miserable look in its eyes, that the hound wanted to be up on the bridge, very, very badly.

The dog gazed up the river, then down the river, then he took a look at the rushing water on one side of him and the gray wall of a building on the other side. Then he looked up at the bridge and yowled like only a hound can yowl.

It got results. Police officers lowered a rope over the bridge. One officer shinned down the rope, tied the rope to the dog, the dog was raised to the bridge, the officer went up the river on the ice for some little distance and found a way to the street, and all was well with the world.

All the hound has got to say is that it is no fun to be isolated on the ice

Jazz Robbers Are Latest In Paris

(International News Service)
PARIS, Feb. 7.—Enter the jazz band robbers.

Up to and including the stroke of midnight, M. Perrier, Auteman, and Guetras entertained customers at a local restaurant with their syncopated tunes.

Afterwards they continued to play tunes only on other people's cash registers and family safes. The burglar trio worked in the greatest harmony until they choose to burglarize a policeman's home.

Since they had no particular need for a policeman at that time, the policeman was there to catch them. The city has taken their fiddles and jimmies, and will eventually give the boys some picks and shovels instead.

This question goes to the Tariff Board, and possibly the answer will be that a rabbit is game when alive and meat when dead.—The Toronto Daily Star

Judge Berkey To Take Stand In His Own Behalf

Somerset Jurist Held For Conspiracy Will Take Stand To Fight Charges

CHARGES TERMED "POLITICAL SCHEMES"

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 7.—Judge John A. Berkey of Somerset county today is expected to take the stand himself in federal court to add his own denial to the charges that he conspired with bootleggers and gamblers in his county in order to swell his campaign funds for re-election to the bench.

Today's testimony will further dispute the allegations of the government and refute the testimony of Claude A. M. Welsh, former deputy prothonotary of the county, that the jurist collected $1 per gallon on liquor sold within his territory. Such is the promise of defense attorneys.

Testimony yesterday came from a veritable stream of Somerset attorneys speaking for the defense in branding the charges as nothing more than "a political scheme to get Judge Berkey."

Berkey, whose term expired January 6 last, is the most prominent of 15 defendants in the "Somerset conspiracy case" who were indicted by a federal grand jury here a few months ago.

Attorney Fred Beebecker, president of the Somerset county bar and an officer of Franklin and Marshall college at Lancaster, Pa., was one of the witnesses for the defense yesterday.

Gillison, 70, is returning to China as a medical missionary.

Dr. Gillison spent 46 years in Central China on the staff of the London Missionary Society, and returned 18 months ago, having then reached the age limit.

"Forty-six years in China has given me a real love for the country and the work I am able to do there, so I am going out again as a voluntary worker. My wife who spent 36 years as a medical missionary out there with me, is also returning," Dr. Gillison said.

Radio And Talkie Aid For Musicians

Have Widened Field Noted Denver Music Teacher Asserts

(International News Service) DENVER, Feb. 7.—Contrary to general opinion, radio and sound pictures have widened the field for professional musicians, Edith L. Jones, noted Denver music teacher, told the annual convention of the Colorado State Music Teachers association here.

Although thousands of musicians were thrown out of work with the advent of "talkies," the irregularity of employment that has existed among professional musicians is gradually working itself out, she said.

"An example of this is the tremendous activity going on in the field of radio music and sound pictures. More and more trained musicians are needed to carry on the work," Miss Jones said.

"Music, like drama, has to be adapted for these inventions, and composers are rising to the occasion—often writing new works especially for the purpose."

"More persons want to study music today, because they are hearing more music than ever."

GIRL IN HOSPITAL HAS BIG APPETITE

SYDNEY, N. S. W., Feb. 7.—"Appetitis" might be called the strange malady which possesses a girl patient at St. Vincent's hospital here. She is alleged to eat in one day 15 meat pies, 24 bananas, 12 mutton chops, 30 slices of bread and 18 sausages. In addition she drinks 27 cups of tea and two gallons of beef tea. Yet she is slowly starving to death.

Prayer In Congress

The house met at 12 o'clock noon. The chaplain, Rev. James Shera Montgomery, D. D., offered the following prayer:

We turn to Thy throne, O God, to bear testimony of Thy goodness, which is an ever-flowing stream. All majesty and all power are in Thy throne. Thou art infinite light whose beams shine forth forevermore; Thou art infinite love which is blessing and serving man everywhere. We praise Thee that it is Thy infinite nature to do these things. We thank Thee that Thy strength is for human weakness, that Thy purity is for human sin, and Thy mercy is for human selfishness. We rebuke ourselves for our narrow ranges of life; forgive us. Bestow upon her this day Thy comfort and peace—the one who has just lost a devoted and distinguished mother. May she be sustained by the abiding consciousness of the glory of the life that is to come. Amen.

Romany's Rites Attend Burial Of Gypsy Princess

Health Officers Bar Whole Tribe From Mystic Ceremonies

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 7.—The nomadic life of a royal Gypsy has ended here and sorrowing kin and followers who carried the 15-year-old princess, Rosa Nichols, to the grave with mystic rites, retired to secrecy and mourning. Only her relatives and intimates saw the final rites.

The girl died at a San Pedro, Calif., hospital from typhoid fever, and city health officials refused to permit the Gypsies to hold a formal funeral with all the tribe in attendance, because of the danger of contagion.

From the cemetery plot, however, some saw the burial. They heard strange, wailing chants and dirge songs passed down from the ancient Romany tribes. Pans with fire leaping out of them were passed over the grave as the girl's body was lowered to its resting place.

While the grave was covered fire and water, the potent magic of olden times, were thrown on the new turned earth. Then, crossing themselves devoutly, members of the girl's family and friends walked silently away.

The girl's mother, Queen Amelia, came to San Pedro this winter and sent her daughter to public school. The girl was born in Argentina.

Pomona Grange Honors D. F. Kyle

Dinner Event Is Held At The Westfield Grange Hall Thursday Evening

Honoring D. F. Kyle, former master of Pomona Grange and his wife, the Pomona Grange last evening held a dinner meeting at the Westfield Grange Hall, with them as the guests of honor for the occasion.

The affair was in recognition of the six years of active and valuable service rendered the Pomona Grange by Mr. Kyle until his retirement the first of the present year.

An elaborate dinner was served in the dining room of the Grange Hall by the ladies of Westfield Grange, which was attended by members of Pomona Grange and the honor guests, W. S. Fullerton, the present Pomona master, was toastmaster, and during the dinner, Mr. Kyle was presented with a fine past master's jewel.

Following the dinner, adjournment was made to the grange hall and the evening was spent in a pleasant social manner with music, reading, stunts and other diversions as the attractions of the occasion.

Featuring the dinner event held last night in honor of Mr. Kyle was the original poem composed and given by Rev. Ross M. Harverfield, pastor of the Westfield Presbyterian church and a member of the grange.

The poem is entitled "Dave Kyle." It follows:

Word of Greeting and a Pleasant Smile,
An Hour of Fellowship tonight,
In honor of our Past Master Kyle Seems only Fair and Right.

You braved the roads and weather
To wield the Gavel, 'tis true
That now we meet together
To take a crack at you.

'Tis not to knock, we'd have you know
But rather to spend a while
About this table before we go
To honor you, Brother Kyle.

Then Here's to a Worthy Past Master
A greeting to you while
We served with you as our master
And we respect you now as Dave Kyle.

New Sheet Mill Being Planned

Plan Erection Of $10,000,000 Continuous Sheet Mill At Youngstown, Ohio

(International News Service) YOUNGSTOWN, O., Feb. 7.—Reports of a consolidation of Youngstown Sheet and Tube company, Indiana and Carnegie-Iron Works, and the Pittsburgh-based firm, are being followed by the authorization by directors of the Youngstown concern here yesterday for the expenditure of $10,000,000 to erect a continuous sheet mill.

On the basis of the expansion program, it was deemed unlikely that Youngstown sheet and Tube is to become a member of the newly-organized $350,000,000 new Republic Steel corporation.

The proposed continuous sheet mill of the Youngstown company will be built at the Brier Hill works. It will be operated, according to the announcement, under American rolling mills patents, acquired recently by sheet and tube, and it is expected to furnish employment for more than 1,000 men.

Construction of the new mill, officials of sheet and tube said, will be commenced immediately. Financing of the project, it is expected, will follow in accordance with the company's usual policy paying for such an expansion through earnings.

Astronomical Clock Ordered Restored

Famous Timepiece In Germany Will Be Set In Motion

(International News Service) MÜNSTER, Feb. 7.—The astronomical clock in the choir of Münster's ancient cathedral, of whose mechanism only a part has been in operation for a century, is to be completely restored for the German Catholic Congress at the end of next August.

This clock, one of the most remarkable masterpieces of its kind in the world, was constructed in the years 1540 to 1545 to take the place of one destroyed by the Anabaptists.

It originally set in motion an orrery with sun, moon, and five planets; the fixed stars, with the signs of the zodiac; two pillars with astrological data, and a calendar. It struck the quarter and full hours, and set in motion at noon the adoration of the Magi before Mary and the Christ child with the star of Bethlehem going before the Magi and a set of chiming playing a Christmas air.

Nursery Teaches Babies To Sneeze

(International News Service) LONDON, Feb. 7.—The "Maori Tickle" may be soon added to the daily routine of the nursery.

Children should be taught the act of sneezing, says Dr. Lacey Naish. This, she adds, can be evoked by tickling the face, in exactly the same manner as is done by the Maories in their baptismal ceremony. When the priest recites the names of the baby's ancestors, he tickles the face with a twig dipped in water, and when the baby sneezes it is supposed to have pronounced its own name.

Druggist Tells How To End Indigestion

Says "Best Stomach Remedy in New Castle Today"

"It is a wonder some of us have stomachs left," remarked a well known druggist recently. "While all drug stores sell a score or more of stomach remedies for which there is a wide demand, most of them are just pepin pills which aid digestion of the food that is in the stomach at the present time. They have no curative or strengthening effect on the stomach at all, and of course do not reach or cure the cause. So the same people keep on coming here and buying and using them until they are real chronic dyspeptics. When anyone really asks my advice, I swear by and recommend ordinary Blaustrated Magnesia, which doesn't digest the food at all, but acts as an anti acid and sweetens the sour, fermenting contents of the stomach. That stops the pain, heartburn, sour rising, wind, bloating, fullness, etc., in just a few minutes, and the stomach digests its food without help or trouble, which is the proper way. Yes, a lot of Blaustrated Magnesia is sold in New Castle. All the druggists have it, and all you take is a teaspoonful or two tablets after every meal. It's a fine restoration."

COUNCIL PASSES ORDINANCE FOR CONSTRUCTION OF VIADUCT HERE

Council Passes Ordinance For Construction Of Second St.
Viaduct At Meeting

Pass Ordinance On First Reading For The Bonding
Of Borough Officials
Here

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 7.—At the regular monthly meeting of the Borough Council which took place Thursday evening in the City building, the members went on record as favoring the ordinance authorizing a contract between the Borough of Ellwood City, the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, the P. and L. E. company and the National Tube company for the construction of an overhead viaduct over the railroad tracks at Second street.

The present bridge is termed unsafe and too narrow for traffic. The expense will be born proportionately to the amount of land involved between the contractors. The approximate cost of construction is estimated at $132,000. The borough is to acquire the adjacent property and pay whatever damages accrue. The borough will also let contracts for the highway approach work and the Baltimore and Ohio company will let the contract for the bridge itself. The borough will pay 1-4 of the total cost of the bridge and the maintenance of the highway thereon. The ordinance was passed on first and final reading at last night's meeting by the suspension of the rules and regulations of council.

Another ordinance of interest was recommended by the Finance committee and endorsed the bonding of borough officials as follows: treasurer, $30,000; borough clerk, $10,000; assistants to the clerk at $1,000 each and the borough manager $2,500. The bonding amounts have been apportioned in accordance with the amounts of cash handled by the above mentioned officials. This was passed on first reading.

Another ordinance recommended by the Finance committee authorized an agreement between the borough and the Shelby Land company for the purchase of parcels of land in the Fifth Ward, to be used for city purposes. This was first slated for a passage on first and final reading, but upon the suggestion of the borough solicitor, it was merely passed on first reading. His contention was that several matters have to be looked into before final action is taken on the purchase.

An ordinance for the grading of a part of Wampum avenue which lies just beyond the Fifth street bridge was recalled from the files and brought up for action. The reason for this was that a taxpayer from that street protested in an undignified manner that Council had secured a deed to that land, had hauled out a great deal of dirt, and left him and his neighbors high and dry on a bank. He wants a side-walk and promised for himself and his neighbors, to assume the proper costs. The matter was referred to the street committee, the borough manager and borough solicitor to thresh out.

SPEED LIMIT SIGNS
Another tax-payer petitioned the borough to erect speed limit signs on the Ellwood-Zelenople road up through Border avenue. It seems that cars fly through there at an appalling pace, endangering the lives of many small children. It was also suggested that cars be only permitted to park on the East side of the street, which would lessen the danger of accidents considerably. This was referred to the Burgess and members of the police committee.

The Burgess and police committee were requested by President Powell to look into the matter of the Harmony franchise, which is in a deplorable condition between the tracks. The matter will be taken up with the company in an effort to get the situation fixed before summer.

RECOMMENDATIONS
Members of the Finance committee recommended that authority be given for the borough to advertise for bids on gasoline and oil to be used in borough cars. This was granted.

The same committee also asked that insurance covering liability and property damage on city cars be given to lowest local insurance company, which was granted.

By an action of Council R. B. Luke, local attorney, was returned as a counsellor to Burgess Turner at a salary of $25 per month.

Ray Wilson, chairman of the Finance committee submitted a draft of the proposed budget of the borough for 1930 to the Council members. This will be discussed and passed at the February meeting.

Rules and regulations committee asked that five additional bunks and equipment be purchased for the basement of the city hall. A hotel of sorts is maintained by the city for the Knights of the Road.

The Street committee asked for authorization to purchase the required amount of culvert pipe to be used in the borough this year, which was granted.

Musser, who have been employed as extra police officers, be retained on probation for three months at a salary of $145 per month. If satisfactory they will be given permanent position at a salary of $150 per month. This recommendation was unanimously accepted by members of the council. After the meeting the chief, who is popular with many, in spite of his office, held an informal reception and received the congratulations of his many friends.

The police and finance committee went on record as not being in favor of re-imbursement former Burgess Evans for payment of $400 for council fees used by Officer Booher, Chassey and Bauder, some time ago when they were suspended from the police force. Council agreed with the police committee that such a bill did not come under the heading of bills for council to pay as they did not authorize the securing of such council. A vote was taken of the members and all supported the recommendation of the police and finance committee with the exception of one.

Germany To Build Airplane Factory In United States

By JACK A. BRADBURY,
International News Service Staff Correspondent

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 7.—A $5,000,000 airplane factory will be established in the United States by the Junkers Airplane company of Germany as soon as the company can decide on the factory site according to Col. James C. Fitzmaurice American representative of the company.

Col. Fitzmaurice who was one of the three Bremen fliers conferred recently with Kansas City business men on the possibility of establishing the factory here.

According to the Junker representative one-half of the capital for the proposed American factory would be raised in New York and the other half would be obtained in the city where the factory is to be located.

The plant would be operated in connection with the Junkers plant at Dessau, Germany and German engineers would be brought to the United States to establish the plant.

"It is the plan of the Junkers company," said Col. Fitzmaurice "to interchange engineers between the German and American plants. It is believed both plants will benefit by an interchange of personnel and ideas."

Col. Fitzmaurice believed that a successful east to west flight of the Atlantic will not be made until better ships are obtained and a means of navigation not dependent on the magnetic compass is worked out.

"The flight can be made," he said "and will be done in time as a regular thing. But the ships made today are not fit for it."

"Every tree that bringeth not forth good fruit is hewn down, and cast into the fire."—Matthew 7:19.

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL

Up to this point in his incomparable Sermon on the Mount, the King has laid down the fundamental principles of his kingdom as follows: (1) Its Nature, Spiritual not Political; (2) Its Purpose, To Transform, Not Coerce the World; (3) Its Policy, To Fulfill not to Nullify the Law; (4) Its Spirit, Sincerity not show; (5) Its Wages, Spiritual not Material; (6) Its Two principles he has yet to develop are: Its Atmosphere, Love, and Its Goal, Life.

The Kingdom's Atmosphere, Love. "Judge not, that ye not be judged," is the King's text for this fifth sermon within the Sermon on the Mount (7:1-12) which he opens with a humorous cartoon illustrating how ridiculous is the unloving critic, who fusses about notes in his brother's eye, unconscious of the stake protruding from his own eye. This is not the atmosphere of the kingdom.

The atmosphere of the kingdom is that of a family, where the Father seeks to meet every need of his children in love: "How much more shall your Father in heaven give good things to them that ask him?" This atmosphere of love will be fostered best as our conduct reflects the Golden Rule of the kingdom. "Therefore, all things whatsoever ye would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them; for this is the law and the prophets."

The Kingdom's Goal, Life.

Every sermon must have an object at which every argument is aimed a goal to which every succeeding statement leads. This incomparable Sermon on the Mount sets as its goal and the goal of the kingdom, that substantial spiritual life that evidences itself in its fruit and its survival through all the storms that beset the Christian in his journey through this world. This section of the sermon it profusely illustrated with contrasted pictures: Two gates, two ways, two trees, two final results. The text is "Enter ye in at the straight gate; for wide is the gate, and broad is the way, that leadeth to destruction, and many there be which go in thereat; because straight is the gate, and narrow is the way, which leadeth unto life, and few there be that find it. He warns against false prophets, who like wolves in sheep's clothing, oppose our way to this goal of life, and commands us to test all teachers as trees are tested, by their fruits as prima facie evidence of life. Mere professions of "Lord, Lord" are not sufficient, but only the possession of life evidenced by "doing the will of my Father, which is in heaven." The life that seeks exemption from pay, this necessary price of success must end in disaster and ruin as a house built upon sand. "Therefore, whosoever heareth these sayings of mine, and doeth them, I will liken him unto a wise man, which built his house upon a rock, and the rain descended, and the floods came, and the winds blew, and beat upon that house; and it fell not; for it was founded upon a rock." This should be the goal of all our spiritual building—stability, permanency, abiding life. Anything short of this is ruin and a complete missing of the goal of life.

(The International Uniform Lesson for Feb. 9, is Matt. 7:1-29, the subject being "Warnings and Promises," and the Golden Text, Matt. 7:19, "Every tree that bringeth not forth good fruit is hewn down, and cast into the fire.") (The Daily Bible Readings for next week's study are: Mon., Matt. 8:5-13; Tues., Matt. 9:1-19; Wed., Mark 8:1-10; Thurs., Luke 12:35-43; Fri., John 11:33-44; Sat., Luke 24:13-27; Sun., Isa. 35:3-10.)

OH, THESE WOMEN!

By LEOLA ALLARD

When I threw a sledge hammer at bachelorhood last week, it fell on an accelerator. I never knew before that bachelors could talk so much.

From Detroit a bachelor writes today: "Single men can do as they please but when they marry they must always ask the wife."

(That should give the married women a laugh.)

"And then try," he says, "to get a word in edgewise with the average woman! Why are they like that?"

"I don't know my dear bachelor, I've tried hard to talk less, with practically no success."

"I think personally that there are some mighty fine women in the world but I can't see where I am much the loser in not being married to one of them. I meet women everywhere I go, but I can't figure them as a necessity, and don't get angry, Miss Allard, but to me they are UNIMPORTANT AND SPOILED."

(OUCH!) He quotes me: "Staying bachelors and not having to give in to anyone makes men crusty, snippy and disapproving."

"Now, Miss Allard, men do give in occasionally, when they know they are wrong. Do women ever admit they are wrong?"

(Well—hardly ever.)

"Bachelors enjoy being free and are decidedly elated when they see home of their married friends who have made a mess of matrimony, just as the Colorado Springs Bachelor told you."

(I suppose you mean elated over your freedom, not over their trouble.) "Maybe we bachelors only SEEM to be 'wrapped' up in our selves and a sorry spectacle, to you women who see hubby do as he is told—poor fellow! Naturally if a man doesn't do as a women bids he is 'disapproving.'"

"Why do you women pick on the bachelors? Is it because you get so used to picking on some man that you get sore when one of them doesn't succumb? Maybe friend husband being all feminized by wifery which is compulsory to him, has all the neces-

"I thank you Miss Allard for the compliments, but since all the other women writers feel the same toward us, I might as well not argue any more."

(Signed) "30 AND SINGLE."

As long as you are not tied to any woman Mr. Detroit, let them pick on you. It's a great good 'wifery' being in a great cause. Women have to pick on somebody, and it can't bring you to the divorce court. Then you have a choice. You don't have to listen to the verbal denunciation and if you want to read you needn't. I notice you did.

YOUR INCOME TAX

NO. 11.

Salaries paid employees constitute one of the largest items of business expenses which are deductible from gross income. To be allowed such claims must conform closely to the words of the revenue act, which provides for the deduction of "a reasonable allowance for persons services actually rendered." The test of deductibility is whether the amounts paid are reasonable and whether they are, in fact, purely for personal service. Money paid an officer of a corporation for which no services are rendered, or for services inadequate to the compensation, is not deductible as salary. Reasonable compensation is held to be an amount that ordinarily is paid by like enterprises in like circumstances for like services. For example, an officer of a corporation received in 1929 compensation in excess of the amount ordinarily paid for services such as he rendered, and which bore a relationship to the amount of his stock holdings. The excess would not be treated as salary, but as a distribution of earnings of the corporation, and the amount of such distribu-

City To Force Track Removal

City Solicitor To File Court Suit Against P. O. Company To Get Action

Solicitor Robert White today stated that sometime this week he would present a bill in equity for the city of New Castle against the New Castle Electric Street Railway Company in Lawrence county court.

The bill is the outgrowth of the failure of the company to remove abandoned tracks in the city which are located in Grant, Beaver, Hamilton street and East Long Avenue.

The bill which is to be presented says the abandoned tracks and the spaces within the tracks and 12 inches on each side are in bad shape and the company has neglected to remove them, despite requests of the city.

The city asks that the company be compelled to remove the tracks and to put that portion of streets now occupied by tracks and for 12 inches on each side into a good passable and safe condition.

"Juryless Trial" Plan Attacked

Both Wets And Drys Attack Plan Submitted By Enforcement Commission

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—The law enforcement commission's "juryless trial" plan to end congestion in federal courts aroused both wets and drys of the Christopherson house judiciary sub-committee Thursday, who charged the plan is full of "jokers" of Harvard law school.

Dean Roscoe Pound, who spoke for the commission, suggested some amendments to meet objections but others were immediately raised.

Admitting that the Jones law providing a maximum prohibition case sentence of five years and $10,000 fine is a formidable obstacle to the commission's plan, Dean Pound answered for himself and Chairman George W. Wickersham that it was not the business of the commission to suggest it be changed.

The sub-committee was aroused by Dean Pound's admission that if a youth who had a flask at a Harvard football game demanded trial by jury it would still be possible for a district attorney to indict him by grand jury and send him to prison for five years.

Specifications Are Completed

City Engineering Department At Work On Plans For Repaving Work

WILL HAVE $75,000
FOR STREET PROJECTS

Municipal Engineer Frank Miller today announced completion of the specifications but said plans had not yet been finished for the repaving of Butler Avenue, Grant Street and Croton Avenue, a state improvement which it is estimated will cost $75,000. The plan will be completed sometime this week.

The three thoroughfares are continuations in the city of state highways for which the state recently allotted $75,000.

According to the state plan, the city is to prepare plans, specifications and submit them to the state.

They must meet with the standard set by the state. Bids will be asked only for concrete or brick repaving, it is reported.

The city will send the plans and specifications to the state highway department at Harrisburg and council will act upon them here.

As soon as approval is given bids will be asked and it is anticipated contracts will be let in late March or early April.

The plan by which the work is to be paid for is as follows:

The state actually pays for the improvement but has asked the city to let the contract and pay amount, up to $75,000.

The council at the last budget meeting only appropriated $60,000, for public improvements.

Having sold the municipal curb-light system, the city will receive $25,000, which will be appropriated to the public improvement fund.

The $60,000, appropriated for public improvements and the $25,000, derived from the curb-light system sale and to be appropriated to the public improvement fund will give the city $85,000.

The state has decreed the city must pay the contractors and the state, in turn, will reimburse the city to the amount of about $75,000, so it can be seen that the city is not actually paying for the work and will have approximately $75,000 for other improvements done by the city.

As it has been decided that certificates of indebtedness are not construed as "city debts" it will be possible for the city of New Castle to make considerable public improvements during the present year.

Increased Demand For Banquet Tickets

Commander's Banquet To Draw Throng To Cathedral On March 4

Demand for tickets for the National Commander's Banquet to be held at the Cathedral, March 4, under the auspices of Perry S. Gaston Post, American Legion, is showing a marked increase, according to Glenn Berry, chairman of the ticket committee.

Several thousand tickets have been distributed, according to Chairman Berry and others are still to be placed in the hands of others for sale. The number placed on is considerably larger than the number that can be accommodated, but as soon as the number that can be accommodated have been sold, the sale of the tickets will be stopped.

It is planned to have two thousand people at the banquet and that number now seems assured.

Two thousand tickets have been given to District Deputy Commander M. J. Kane for distribution and sale among the Legionnaires and their friends in Beaver Valley, another thousand has been placed on sale with the posts of Niles, Youngstown, Grove City, Franklin, Oil City, Butler, and Rouseville.

Legionnaires here to the number of 130 with the Snyder Piano company and Legion Home have 1750 tickets.

Indications are that the sale of tickets will be stopped not later than February 25, when it is anticipated that a check up will show that the required number of two thousand have been disposed of.

IRONY

Old Charley Kahles, the comic strip man, got talking the other night about his motor trip last fall through France. In the vineyard laden hills between Epemay and Rheims, his motor ran dry one afternoon. A long drought had made water scarce.

"There," said a youth, extending a pail just filled from a large vat, with a crystal-like liquid, "pour this into the motor."

Charles handed the kid five francs—about 20 cents—and went on his way, his motor cooled by wine that could have been sold at any night club in New York for $100.

BEING A CORPSE NIGHTLY

Jack Lee, Jr., is the actor who every night and at two matinees a week impersonates the corpse of the murdered man in "Subway Express," a murder mystery play set in a subway train.

Jack is killed a few minutes after the curtain goes up and for nearly two hours thereafter, until the close of the third act, has to sit upright and perfectly motionless in an armless subway seat in full view of the audience.

The effectiveness of the play depends on Lee's rigidity. He says if you want to discover what a lot of skin you have and how numerous and individual are your nerves and muscles, place yourself in a position where, for ten minutes, it would be indiscreet to move, and see how quickly dozens of little itches and twitches develop, which under other circumstances would go unnoticed.

You have no idea, according to Jack Lee, how monotonous it gets, being a corpse—without even the consolation of a squirt at heaven.

BIRD CAGE TRICK

Keating, the magician, is authority for the statement that his famous disappearing bird cage trick is one of the oldest illusions in the sleight-of-hand man's bag, yet no one seems able to solve it.

The trick is seldom used for this reason: The magician holds the little cage between his two hands, which are outstretched about six inches from his waistcoat. Then he counts, breaking the count like this: "One... Two... Two and a half... Three!"

That "two and a half" never fails to throw most of the audience out of close attention, and then the cage and the canary have vanished.

The cage is collapsible, made of wires, cloth and little rods which form the bars. The canary is genuine. When the magician releases his left hand, the cage, which is on a strong elastic, flashes up his sleeve—and the canary gets killed, or at least so badly squashed on the rods when they fold up, that he isn't good for much but the cat after that.

It's a good trick but the average sleight-of-hand man is too tender hearted to ill use little birds in that fashion.

WANAMAKER

John Wanamaker wasn't 23 when he started his first store at Sixth and Market streets, Philadelphia, at the beginning of the Civil war. During the first day the new firm sold $24.67 worth of men's collars, cuffs and neckties. Young John put 67 cents into the cash drawer to make change next day and took the $24 to the office of the Public Ledger to pay for an advertisement of the new store.

Ten years later his sales were averaging $15,000 a day, and in 1873, 12 years after he opened his store, he had the largest retail clothing business in the United States and was spoken of as the most daring in its innovations.

Macmillan has just brought out a biography of this genius of the business world—and how much genius in the business world is just sheer good sense in advertising!

"Please explain the midnight sun," writes a reader of the column. "Where is it to be seen?"

Due to the inclination of the earth's axis, the poles are turned, six months each, toward and away from the sun, giving us our summers and winters. The same thing gives us long summer days and short nights; short winter days and long nights. As we approach the poles this variation is accentuated until summer becomes a six-month day; winter a six-month night. Thus the midnight sun is visible in summer in the vicinity of both poles, alternately.

Was Atalanta one of Diana's maidens known for her fleetness of foot?

Atalanta, daughter of King Iasius of Icaria, promised to wed the man who outran her, but losers were doomed to death. After several such tragedies, she was beaten by Hippomenes, through the trick of dropping three golden apples Venus had given to him, which Atalanta stopped to pick up. The pair afterward offended the goddess Cybele, who changed them into a lion and lioness, to draw her chariot.

Is a limit placed on the number of immigrants from Hawaii?

Travel between the continental United States and Hawaii (which is a territory, like Alaska) is unrestricted. Immigration into Hawaii is subject, however, to the same restrictions as exist for the rest of the country.

Does a person leaving the United States have to have a passport?

A passport is not required to leave, but most countries (there are a few exceptions) require one to permit a foreigner to land on their soil. Thus, though it is not essential in order to get away, it is highly important to avoid immediately being returned.

Constance Bennett Brands Story False

(International News Service) HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Feb. 7.—More than a little piqued when informed of reports of her alleged romance with Marquis De La Falaise, Gloria Swanson's husband, Constance Bennett, film actress, today termed those reports as "too ridiculous to discuss." The film colony had heard that the Marquis was to divorce Miss Swanson, in order that he might be free to marry Miss Bennett, who recently was divorced from Philip Plant at Paris.

Rockefeller's Program For Day Is Interesting

Famous Philanthropist Is Sticker For Punctuality; Adheres To Routine At Age Of 90 Years Rockefeller Is In Good Physical Condition; Likes His Golf

(EDITOR'S NOTE:—Herewith is the second of a series of articles on John D. Rockefeller, Sr., founder of the Standard Oil Company and world renowned philanthropist, who, at the ripe old age of ninety, is a marvelous example of physical fitness and an exponent of the art of correct living.)

By JAMES L. KILGALLAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent
(Copyright 1930 by International News Service.)
ORMOND BEACH, Fla., Feb. 7.—John D. Rockefeller, Sr., is not on a diet. He eats three meals a day—not necessarily big meals but big enough to keep him at the peak of physical efficiency.

He is adhering to a strict daily health regimen at his winter home here where, at the age of ninety, he is displaying as much vitality as he did when he first came to Ormond Beach for health and recreation eighteen years ago.

Adheres To Schedule
Mr. Rockefeller's week-day schedule, as revealed today to International News Service by a close personal friend who frequently has been his guest at his home, the Casements, here and at his summer estate at Pocantico Hills, near Tarrytown, N. Y., is as follows:

He rises at 7.
He breakfasts at 8. This does not mean 7:59 or 8:01.

He tees off for eight holes of golf at exactly 10:15 a. m.
He has luncheon at precisely 1:30 p. m.

He takes a daily motor ride at 3 p. m.
He has dinner at 7:30 p. m.

He retires no later than 10 p. m., invariably at that exact hour.

No False Stomach
John D.'s friend, who is the authority for this information, laughed at the reports that Mr. Rockefeller has a "false stomach," saying such reports are untrue. He said that on one occasion about five years ago he was at the table when Rockefeller ate during luncheon two soft shell crabs and elderberry pie, a mighty tough combination to digest.

But, as a matter of fact, Mr. Rockefeller is very careful about what he eats. He eats lightly as a rule and very slowly. He never drinks intoxicants and even abstains from coffee. He does not smoke. He does nothing that will interfere in the slightest with his health.

Likes His Golf
Mr. Rockefeller awakens in the morning naturally, without the aid of an alarm clock. His subconscious mind it so attuned that he almost always awakens at 7 a. m. He likes to lie in bed for a short while and have members of his household come in and discuss the weather. He asks such questions as: "How was the weather last night? What is the prediction for today? Will there be much wind today?" Invariably he is thinking of his morning round of golf, his greatest pleasure.

He has his morning tub and dresses leisurely. Contrary to the general impression he has no valet. Neither has he a regular doctor. Years ago in Cleveland when he suffered from a stomach ailment he had a specialist but he no longer needs medical attendance. He has had a cold a few times in the last year or two here and on such occasions was treated by one of the local doctors.

Precisely at 8, Mr. Rockefeller sits down to breakfast. It is quite a formal affair. Mr. Rockefeller always says grace before every meal. He asks a blessing and then usually someone at the table reads "daily thoughts" or two or three verses from the Bible. A maid stands directly in back of each chair as "Michael," the butler, serves the food.

Plays Breakfast Game
Breakfast over, "Michael" brings in the game called "Numerico." This is a sort of a family solitaire. Fifty two pieces of square cut cardboard, each piece of cardboard numbered. The cardboards are of four colors. He turns them face down and stirs them around. He lifts one card at a time and calls the number. If a guest completes his set, as in solitaire, Mr. Rockefeller gives him one of his new dimes. If not the guest receives only a nickel.

After breakfast Mr. Rockefeller goes to his room and lies down while his secretary, Nelson W. Davis, a veteran employe, reads his mail.
At 10 a. m. he gets into his limousine and his chauffeur, Vincent Frasca, drives him to the Ormond Beach links where he tees off at exactly 10:15 for eight holes of golf—no more, no less, rain or shine.

Retires At 10 O'clock
By noon Mr. Rockefeller is back at the casements and he takes a short nap before luncheon at 1:30. After luncheon he reads for a while and at 3 p. m. goes motoring for an hour or two. At 7:30 p. m. he sits down and slowly eats a light dinner. Then he either reads or listens to the radio.
And by 10 p. m. he has retired, usually falling asleep without the slightest trouble.

(EDITOR'S NOTE:—In tomorrow's article Mr. Rockefeller's demeanor on the golf links will be described by his golfing crone, General Albert Ames of Ormond, in an exclusive International News Service interview.)

Woman Saves Hand By Rare Courage

(International News Service)
GETTYSBURG, Pa., Feb. 7.—The courage and prompt action of Mrs. George Hughes probably saved her left hand which had become caught in the wringer of a power washing machine while she was washing the family clothes. The woman dragged the heavy machine through two rooms to a telephone and summoned the aid of a neighbor who in turn called a nearby garage mechanic who released the hand.

The hand was badly bruised although no bones were broken.

HIGHLIGHTS OF HISTORY

By J. Carroll Mansfield

The Story Of The Boxer Rebellion
The Powers Demand Reparations

IN DECEMBER 1900, THE GREAT POWERS PRESENTED THEIR DEMANDS TO CHINA. THESE WERE—INDemnITY FOR LOSSES THEY HAD SUFFERED IN THE BOXER REBELLION AND MEASURES FOR THE FUTURE PROTECTION OF FOREIGNERS. CHINA AGREED TO PAY 450 MILLION TAELS (330 MILLION DOLLARS).

JOHN HAY, AMERICAN SECRETARY OF STATE, PERSUADED THE OTHER NATIONS NOT TO DEMAND CHINESE TERRITORY AND WON THEIR FAVOR TOWARD AN "OPEN DOOR" POLICY IN TRADE WITH CHINA. HE WAS ALSO SUCCESSFUL IN HAVING MUKDEN AND ANTUNG NAMED AS OPEN PORTS.

SECRETARY HAY DID NOT WISH TO SEE CHINA REDUCED TO THE POSITION OF A WEAK, SUBORDINATE NATION, AND BELIEVED THAT THE BEST WAY TO SOLVE CHINA'S PROBLEMS WAS TO GIVE THE CHINESE A CHANCE TO MODERNIZE THEMSELVES.

THE UNITED STATES RECEIVED 24 MILLION DOLLARS AS ITS SHARE OF THE INDEMNITY, WHICH EXCEEDED OUR ACTUAL LOSSES BY 13 MILLION DOLLARS. UNCLE SAM GENEROUSLY GAVE THE EXCESS BACK TO CHINA IN 1907. THIS MONEY WAS USED TO BUILD AND MAINTAIN CHIN WAH COLLEGE, A GREAT CENTER OF LEARNING IN PEKING.

Hillsville Dinner For County League Is Enjoyable Event

Lawrence County League
Baseball Will Prosper
Through Fine Support

Chicken Dinner Served In New High School Building Proves Quite Tasty

By "BUGS" WALTHER
Lawrence County League baseball is sure to thrive here this summer if the enthusiasm displayed at the dinner-smoker held at Hillsville last night can be taken as a criterion.
The baseball men, and there were 125 of them present, representing every section of the county, talked in glowing terms of what they intended to do this year. It was not a lot of "hot air."

It was Hillsville's turn Thursday evening to play host to the baseball men of the county and they did it to the "T." Say, if you ever get hungry for chicken just go out to Hillsville and put in your order. The ladies of the Methodist church put up as fine a chicken and biscuit dinner as the writer has ever stowed away.

Real Fine Dinner.
Nick Navarre and Patsy Colucci, two energetic Hillsville boosters advanced sometime ago that they would give the Lawrence County
League a dinner, and what a dinner.
The affair went over with a bang and plenty of base hits. An invitation to go back there and eat chicken would not need a second asking, you know.

The affair was held in the new Hillsville high school, a magnificent building and a credit to the town.
The meal was served in the auditorium, and in style that would have done credit to the Ritz-Carlton in New York. There were no delays, and no lost balls, everything went off as per schedule with the chicken done to the turn and melting in your mouth.

When the dinner was over and everyone was filled way up to the top, the speaking part of the program got under way. Patsy Colucci being a robust orator acted as toastmaster and he was a credit to the profession.
Colucci first read a telegram from Hans Wagner stating that he was sorry that he had to miss the Lawrence County dinner, but owing to the Sports Writers banquet in Pittsburgh falling the same night, could not be there in person.

Andrews Delivers Speech.
The first speaker was William G.
Andrews, president of the Lawrence County League, and "Bill" as he is known to countless hundreds of baseball players and fans throughout this section responded with a usual Andrews talk, filled with optimism for the coming baseball season, and expressing the hope that everything would be sub rosa with the league this year and that he would give the players his full support. Baseball is the chief hobby of Mr. Andrews' and he will continue to serve as president of the league just as long as they want him. Andrews said that he earnestly hoped that Ellwood City would decide to come back into the fold of the Lawrence County League next summer. An effort is being made to obtain this fine team.

President Andrews delivered the only set speech of the evening, the other boys merely being called on and saying something nice about the league. The following gave short talks all of which were thoroughly enjoyed: James H. Eakin of Hillsville; Nick Navarre, of the Hillsville team; Commissioner Louis "Plek" Glitch; Commissioner "Bugs" Wal-ther; Alex Black, the Italian A. A.
Carl Lago, Bessemer; A. J. Eales,
Bessemer; Jack Dye, New Castle; C.
E. Montgomery, Bessemer, who in addition to his talk gave two fine readings; Walter "Hub" Hart, New Castle; Earl Pitts; Bert Ullman; Rev.
Montgomery, Mahoning township;

Jimmy Fletcher, New Castle, a wounded world war veteran; Dave D.
Valensi, New Castle, president of the Italian A. A. baseball team; a reading and talk; Harry Culbertson, New Castle; and Alec Samuels, New Castle.

To Worlds Series.
Alec Samuels, vice-president of the league in his speech told of the plan to send the winning team to the league next summer to the world series.
An automobile, a Whippet sedan, has been purchased by the league and tickets will be sold by the league members with chances good for the automobile, and in this way money will be secured to finance the trip to the annual autumn classic. Prizes will be given for the men selling the most tickets and also for the team selling the most tickets. An enthusiastic welcome was given the idea of selling tickets and sending the local ball players to the greatest of all baseball games. The machine will be given away on Memorial Day.

Music Is Fine.
During the course of the evening
two soloists were heard, both tenors, and they gave pleasing programs,
they were Gene Murphy and Lee Oakley. Both men are radio performers, and their experience before the "mike" made them finished soloists. Their several numbers were well received.

The Pennsylvania railroad orchestra furnished the music for the banquet and their work was thoroughly enjoyed. They played all the late popular songs while the boys were lapping up the nice thick gravy off the plates.

Credit To Hillsville.
It was an evening well spent for those who like baseball and also for those who like good wholesome entertainment. The affair staged last night is a big credit to Hillsville.

Judging from the discussion the Lawrence County League this year will be bigger and better than ever and some fine games will be played while the boys are fighting for the flag and also the trip to the worlds series.

Genaro Loses To Stein On Foul In Battle At Berlin

BERLIN, Feb. 7.—Frankie Genaro, American flyweight and former world's champion, was decrying a "Dutch" decision today after losing to Harry Stein of Germany on a foul in the eighth round of a fight here last night.

Smaller and lighter than his opponent, Frankie had things his way all through the fight. In the fifth he floored the German for the count of six. Later he again dropped Stein with a blow which was declared a trifle low. Stein was granted a one minute rest and the fight proceeded. While pummeling Stein's body in the eighth Genaro brushed his opponent's trunks and was disqualified.

Slippery Rock Girls Team Again Winner; Loudon Girls Stars

(Special To The News)

SLIPPERY ROCK, Pa., Feb. 7.—Continuing their marvellous winning streak with a 38-7 victory over Ohio Northern University at Ada, Ohio, on Saturday, the Slippery Rock College girls' team is rapidly justifying their claim to the eastern collegiate championship of United States. The one sided victory over the Ohio team convinces fans that Miss Elmina Compton again has a winning sextette.

The team is a veteran one and is composed entirely of members of the squad that competed in the National championship at Wichita, Kansas, last year. Ella Louise Russell, Edgewood girl, is captain of the team for the second consecutive year, and is considered the best guard in the Tri-State district as far as feminine basketball is concerned. However, Coach Compton has found it necessary to change Miss Russell this year from guard to center, and the Edgewood girl has proved her ability at this position by a fine game against Ohio Northern.

Mary and Sal Loudon from New Castle are the forwards on the Teachers Sextette. The two sisters, with extraordinary team play, are likely to make local fans forget the forwards on past teams. Ann given son from Oakmont and Florence Winstone from Monessen are the guards.

The fact that they have been allowing the opposition about three field goals per game speaks for itself as to their ability.

On Saturday afternoon the Harrisonburg (Virginia) Teachers College Sextette will be the opposition at the Slippery Rock gym. The visitors were champions of Virginia last year, and as Slippery Rock gained the state title in Pennsylvania last year by their victory over Swarthmore, fans are assured of one of the greatest girls' games ever played in the Pittsburgh district.

Following is the remainder of schedule for this season:

Feb. 8.—Harrisonburg State Teachers College at Slippery Rock.
Feb. 14.—East Stroudsburg State Teachers College at Slippery Rock.
Feb. 21.—Harrisonburg State Teachers College at Harrisonburg, Va.
Feb. 22.—Frostburg Normal School at Frostburg, Maryland.
Feb. 28.—Ohio Northern University at Slippery Rock.
Mar. 1.—Juniata College at Slippery Rock.

Cut all greens in two or three inch sections. Put in a heavy utensil with one-fourth cup water and a dash of salt. Cover tightly and cook over a low heat for 15 or 20 minutes.

Gar Wood's Big Racing Boat Is At Canal Bottom

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 7.—Gar Wood's $50,000 racing boat, the Gar senior, lay on the bottom of Seybold canal, Thursday, sunk by an explosion which tore the stern from the craft and set it afire.

Two men were working in the engine room at the time of the blast. One escaped unhurt and the other incurred minor injuries. The cause of the blast was not known.

All Chicago Cubs Are Now In Fold

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Feb. 7.—With the signing of Hazen "Kiki" Cuyler for a two year contract, the championship Chicago Cubs today are all in the fold for the coming season.

Cuyler had returned the contract sent him in January, leading President Bill Veeck to fear he was holding out for more money.

BALL PLAYERS NOTICE
All members of the First Congregational baseball team of the New Castle Church League of the last year are asked to call Jack Steinbrink.
Also it is asked that White, Bert Price and Carl Gennock call Stein-brink.

Wesley Girls Win In Close Contest

Take 14-12 Triumph From Hillsville Maidens In Rapid-Fire Game

Taking the jump on their Hillsville girl opponents, the Wesley girls of this city took a 14-12 victory when they played them in what proved to be a most exciting game.

The Misses Crabill, Hughes and Horchler starred for the Wesley team, while Poushey and Manning were consistent players for the losers.

The summary:
Wesley 14. Hillsville 12.
Furbee F. Mottinger
Poushey F. Rech
M. Smith C. Hughes

New Castle Plays At Zelienople Tonight

Both Teams Report To Be In Excellent Shape For League Game

Victory For Locals Will Give Them Firm Hold On Sectional Leadership

Following a final workout at the senior high school gymnasium on Thursday afternoon, Coach Phil H.
Bridenbaugh proclaimed his undefeated New Castle high school basketball team in the "peak" for their game with Zelienople high at Zelienople, Pa. tonight at 8:15.
Coach Phil Bridenbaugh sent his passers through a light workout last night in preparation for the game.
Zelienople also ended training for this game on Thursday. If there is one game they want to win it is the game tonight, according to reports from the little Butler county town.

It doesn't make much difference where the joy-riding party strikes out for. It seldom gets there.

To Battle Titans Tonight

By "BUGS" WALTHER
Geneva College basketball team wants to beat Westminster tonight at the newly opened New Brighton High School gym floor for three reasons. First—the recent setback given the competitors at New Wilmington 22 to 20. Second—the football defeat of last year. Third—if the Geneva boys can haul down the Titans it will mean that they are deadlocked with Bethany and Westminster for second place in the Tri-State Conference, and will then still have a mythical chance of coping the bursting.

On the other hand a defeat for the Geneva boys tonight and they will cease to care what happens in the Tri-State district. A defeat will mean three and three and that's not so good when one notices that the Dukes, Titans and Bisons are setting a pace that is terrific.
Westminster wants a victory tonight because it will give them a former holdout on first place. Today they share the top rung with the Dukes, with four victories and one defeat apiece. Coach Lawther hopes to have his team at the head of the league in the morning.

Titans Hold Victory
The game played at New Wilmington January 13, was a battle all the way through the forty minutes. The game tonight should be just as good, and it is freely predicted by the boys of the valley that the Titans are in for a healthy tussle if they take the bacon. With "Skats" Delehanty back in shape Coach Lawther has ceased to worry. The Titans will present O'Donovan, Delehanty at the forwards, Crowell at center and Fisher and Rice on the guards.

Truly speaking this little engagement down in the valley tonight looks like the most attractive payoff of the week. There is sure to be a crowd on hand when the proceedings are ready to commence. The Titans generally pack them in wherever they go, and they should, because just like Primo
Canera they have "it".
If you are hungry for basketball, try and get down to New Brighton to the Dawes Memorial gym floor, you are sure to like the nice bright lights anyhow even if the game is lopsided, but the writer really looks for another of those Frank Merriwell finishes tonight.

Ruth And Maroon In Good Condition

Fans Should See Fast Battle Here Monday Night.

INTEREST MANIFESTED IN SIMI-FINAL BOUT

By ED FRITZ

Babe Ruth, Cincinnati, and Tommy Maroon, Philadelphia, featherweights who battle Monday night at Jolly Bowl will "knock off" heavy training after today and fans here are looking forward to an extraordinary fast contest when the bell rings.

Ruth has won a decision over Johnny Datto who has fought here and among some of his opponents are such well known topnotchers as Earl Mastro, Bud Taylor, Eddie Shea, Joe Medill, Cecil Payne, Henry Leonard and Freddie Miller.

Maroon, who started his pugilistic career in Kansas City is said to be one of the best punchers in the 126 pound division, having scored 38 knockouts and won 12 decisions in 50 fights and Al Lippe, manager, believes that Maroon has a bright chance to some day occupy the 126 pound throne.

Stanley Williams of Wheeling, it was learned today, had a rib injured where it connects with the backbone and rather than take a chance of aggravating the injury his manager asked for a postponement. Ruth, a highly rated and prominent battler was signed.

Ruth is a Spanish-American and Maroon an Italian-American. They're young and full of pep and fans can expect another good fight.

The other boys on the card are training hard. There is plenty of interest in the George Perotta-Red Jadabird six round semi-final. Both are punchers and a knockout is anticipated.

There should be a lot of hard socks and speed displayed in the two six round preliminaries. Marshal Crochet opposes Henry Polans and Jackie Ward tackles Bud Dempsey.

Durant Sues Over Newspaper Article

Nine Suits Totalling $45,000, 000 Filed Over Story Claimed To Be False

Suits for $5,000,000 each have been filed by William C. Durant, New York motor manufacturer and financier, against nine news papers and news syndicates following the publication on January 23, in a New York paper, and subsequently by other publications throughout the country, of an alleged false statement reflecting upon the business integrity of Mr. Durant.

Coupled with the suits Mr. Durant makes the following statement:

"It is my firm determination to hold to strict accountability any person or corporation in any way responsible for the origin or spread of the baseless and slanderous reports referring to stock transactions with Mrs. Percy Hudson or alleged questionable transactions in connection with Mr. Samuel Ungerleider, President of the Ungerleider Financial Corporation. I have never heard of Mrs. Hudson and do not know her and know nothing of her affairs."

Ebbets To Fight Chastain Tonight

Ebbets rules a 7 to 5 favorite to tumble Chastain.

Dempsey, managing tonight's show, introduces a system of remote control in promoting work. The former heavyweight champion will manage the program while en route to Los Angeles.

Reiselt took yesterday afternoon's game 74 to 43 in 71 innings and won last night 50 to 51 in 37 innings.

New Wilmington Hi Quintet Impressive

New Wilmington High school basketball team has had a very successful season to date. The Karsten coached team has won four games and have been defeated in three contests.

Only one-letter man from the last year's team remained for this season, this being Darwin Hartwell, but Coach Karsten went to work with a will and has produced a right clever team.

William White has been the outstanding star this year so far, with 22 field goals and 7 fouls for a total of 31 points. Hartwell and Myers are tied for second scoring honors with 23 points apiece. Davis is third with 23 points and Gilliland is fourth with 15 points. Two subs, Brownlee and McCrumb have 6 and 2 points respectively.

Four Games Won The Wilmington boys have beaten Mt. Jackson, Bessemer, Grove City and Shenango. They have been defeated by Union, Sharpville, and East Brook. The Karsten team has scored a total of 163 points to 159 for their opponents.

Coach Karsten has demonstrated his ability to turn out good teams. The material at the start of the season was not so hot, but they have gained a lot of experience and are now waging a fight for the county championship. In Hartwell and Gilliland, Coach Karsten has two guards

Some Winning Streaks

Kid Chocolate—WHOSE RECORD OF 150 WINS IS MARRED BY BUT 1 DRAW!

American league champions in baseball world series have defeated their National League rivals in 12 out of the last 13 games played; the former winning ten straight until the Cubs captured that lone game from the Athletics last fall. The New York Yankees crushed the St. Louis Cardinals four in a row in 1927, and repeated against the Pittsburgh Pirates in 1928. Then Connie Mack's team clipped the Chicago Cubs in all but one of the 1929 world series.

Old circuit fans are still hopeful while predicting desperately: "The Americans took us three running; watch the Nationals start our string in 1930!"

That championship American league winning streak over the Nationals is reaching a significance (shall we note?) almost as convincing as west coast football victories over eastern teams!

Boxing furnishes an even more consistent success series in the truly remarkable record of Kid Chocolate, dusky Cuban feather, who has amassed 159 wins and one draw up to the start of 1930. Of course, most of these victories were scored over utterly obscure pugilists, but the Keed's record also includes triumphs over several of the best boys in his class.

This little negro is said to be still less than 21, though for license purposes he would appear to be 22. Chocolate started checking gloved fists for money when hardly more than a child right off the newsie-embellished streets of his native Havana. In two or three instances since getting the fistic spotlight, the Keed perhaps has been given a shade the best of it in close decisions, but, on the whole, his many performances for more than a year present him as one of the best boxers of these times.

Who are as good as his sentinals on the championship team of last year. With a wealth of reserve material New Wilmington High should not fear any of their future games.

The girls team has been defeated but once this year and that to a Class A school Sharpville High, by a one-point margin. The same lineup exists this year as went through the entire 1929-30 season defeated in but one game. Miss Minner has been a threat to the opposing teams this year, scoring practically all of the points for New Wilmington. Excellent teamwork has been the means of bringing the girls more than fair success this season.

Rabbit Breeders Form Organization

George Ball Is Named As Temporary President At Meeting Last Night

Rabbit breeders of New Castle and vicinity met at the office of the Ball Furnace and Roofing company on Thursday evening, February 6th to organize a Rabbit and Cavy Breeders Association. There were sixteen different breeders represented, breeding at least eight different varieties and colors of rabbits.

A temporary organization was formed under the name of the New Castle Rabbit and Cavy Breeders Association, with the following officers: President, George Ball; vice president, H. C. Hadsell, secretary and treasurer, H. W. Miles, all of New Castle.

Another meeting will be held Thursday evening, February 13th at 7.30 o'clock at the same office and all breeders of rabbits and cavs of New Castle and vicinity are invited to be present.

Each breeder is asked to bring one or two of his best stock for exhibition and discussion.

Instead of wearing canvas gloves to hang clothes in winter, purchase a cheap pair of woolen knitted ones and you will find them much better. They absorb moisture and keep hands dry and warm.

Wrestling fans who take their sport seriously—and many must because Gus Sonnenberg is reputed to have gotten more than $200,000 during 1929 storming trips—are much interested in the efforts of the National Boxing Association to stabilize the grappling game. The N. B. A. will try to complete a series of world heavyweight championship eliminations by April 30. Sonnenberg, Dick Shikat, John Pesek, Jim Londos, and Pete Sauer have been nominated for this competition already.

This attempt to clarify the wrestling title situation has come to a head through what seems to be a clash of cliques that would control what many critics call "the most controllable of sports."

"Dynamite Gus" Sonnenberg is generally recognized as the mat king since he defeated "Strangler" Ed Lewis via those famous "flying tackle" about a year and a half ago. For almost a year, Gus kept on tossing over at the rate of two, three and four a week in the cities and hinterlands, with no public protests against his title integrity to which he added the glamour of a collegiate football past with much fame earned at Dartmouth and Detroit University.

But the prosperous peregrinations of the Providence, R. I., flying tackle finally hit a snag in Philadelphia, where the local sports officials decided that Dick Shikat deserved a crack at Sonnenberg's crown, thanks immediately to a defeat of Jim Londos. When Gus declined to risk his title against the Philly favorite, the Quaker sport commission simply declared that Shikat was the world's champion.

So the title was thrust into a sort of conference stage, clique is still clashing with clique, and the non-Pennsylvania champion keeps on raking in the "grands" night after night in what is perhaps the most active and prosperous trouping act ever known to the annals of sport.

While the Sonnenberg-Shikat controversy probably is not an intentional ballyhoo to steam up public interest in "a duel between champions," because the cliques are far too bitter to even think of any such "business" as yet, the argument eventually should bring Gus and Dick into spectacular embrace.

However, the embattled cliques seem to hate each other so much that some say Sonnenberg might be persuaded to lose his title to any wrestler in the world, except Shikat. Bold hints are heard that the latter may avoid elimination tournaments where allies of the Sonnenberg faction might bear down extra hard on the ace of the rival clique. Yes, the N. B. A. will achieve a great diplomatic triumph if it pacifies the warring wrestling elements and puts that game's championships in the moral category of Caesar's wife.

Illinois has put heavyweight wrestling under an indefinite ban because of the confused status of its championship with Sonnenberg refusing to enter into any elimination tournament.

NEW YORK STOCKS

Lower Rediscount Rate Has Little Market Effect

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—Lowering of the reserve bank rediscount rate to 4 per cent after the close of yesterday's market had been so accurately forecasted that there was no outburst of speculative buying when the markets opened today. Bullish traders who had purchased stocks in anticipation of the change were ready to sell, and outside buyers were none too plentiful. The result was a two-way market with losses and gains evenly divided in the active stocks.

Stock sales in the first half-hour totaled 414,000 shares, against 611,600 shares in the same period yesterday. Wall Street was extremely conservative. Some of the well known houses predicting a reaction that would wipe out the bulk of the February advance. The rise in the railroad stocks, in the second hour, was followed by an upward move in the blue-chip industries. American Can jumped 4 points to 136. Westinghouse resumed its forward move with a rally to 166. U. S. Steel rallied 2 points from the low of the day. Leadership in the rails was unchanged, with New Haven, New York Central, Allegheny Corporation and Erie to the front.

Oil stocks were again under pressure, though losses were comparatively small. Anaconda Copper rose more than a point to 79 1/2.

Cotton and grain made no headway in the early trading and call money was unchanged at 4 per cent.

Babe Ruth Is 36 Years Old Today

(International News Service)
ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 7.—Babe Ruth, 36 years old today, deserted the golf links long enough to cut himself a piece of birthday cake at a birthday party arranged in his honor by Adolph Grant, New Rochelle, N. Y.

Ruth said he "was not worrying" over the dispute between himself and the owners of the Yankees about his salary.

Colonel Rupert is expected here next week to talk to Ruth about his demands for an increase of some $15,000 a year.

"The next move is up to Rupert," the Babe said. "I have nothing to say."

Mrs. Harry Clark Heads Auxiliary

At the annual meeting of the woman's auxiliary of Trinity Episcopal church held this week, officers for the ensuing year were elected and reports made that showed that the organization had been active during the year and conducted a most successful work for the parish.

Mrs. Harry Clark was elected as president, while the other officers elected were Mrs. William Davis, vice president; Mrs. Lloyd Barnhart, secretary; and Mrs. C. E. Lyle, treasurer. The auxiliary has started Lenten sewing for the Linwood Grove Memorial church.

Bids Submitted For Postal Repair Work

Extensive minor repairs will be made at the New Castle post office as soon as departmental headquarters at Washington, D. C., announce the winning contractor. Postmaster E. W. Crawford said today.

Several bids for the work had been received at two o'clock this afternoon, the deadline hour for all contractors who desired to submit estimates.

Specifications call for a general renovation about the building. Actual work will not likely start for two weeks.

President's Friend Says Home Brewing Is Legal

Representative Franklin Fort (Republican), of New Jersey, caused a furor in Congress when, in an apparently carefully prepared speech, he declared that home brewing, in his opinion, was legal. Representative Fort suggested amendment of the Volstead act to clarify the home brew situation, however. Mr. Fort is the former secretary of the Republican National Committee and campaign manager for President Herbert Hoover.

Last Chance For Five State Candidates—Father Time

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Pa., Feb. 7.—"Your last chance" is the warning that Father Time is flouting in the faces of at least five men whose names are being discussed in connection with the Republican nomination for governor. Before the next governor is sworn in all will be past the retirement age for state employees. Two already have passed the Biblical allotment of "three score years and ten."

Interest in the ages of the prospective candidates has been predicted on the fact that 60 is the maximum age at which any governor has taken office under the present Constitution. Samuel W. Pennypacker was 60 when sworn in and so was the present incumbent, John S. Fisher.

The oldest of the five so far has perhaps been the subject of the latest discussion. Charles Johnson, at present secretary of revenue, is 74. The major portion of his life has been spent in elective or appointive office.

Next in order of age is Francis Shunk Brown, Philadelphia. Yare leader, who is 71. Brown served as attorney general under Governor Martin G. Brumbaugh.

Both Attorney General Cyrus E. Woods and Secretary of Property and Supplies Benson E. Taylor are 68. Taylor celebrated his 68th birthday on January 31. Woods will be 69 next September.

The youngest of the five is former Governor Gifford Pinchot who at present is 64.

A younger possibility than Pinchot is General William G. Price, commander of the Pennsylvania National Guard. Price will be 61 in March and at 64 will be eligible for Army retirement.

Whatever hopes any of those now being discussed may entertain in connection with the governor's chair, it is generally admitted that another four years will have greatly reduced their chances of being considered.

The present uncertainty regarding the identity of the man who will receive organization backing at the primary has resulted in a search of the records of each named, which has been unprecedented in recent years.

Minor politicians and Capitol Hill employees to whom final selection means so much are not missing any hidden possibilities in weighing the chances of their favorites.

Just how many of the points now being considered will weigh with Senator Joseph R. Grundy when he makes his selection is the "unknown quantity" which has kept the best of them in gussing practice.

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

Peculiar as this weather is, "It ain't nothin'" compared to Colorado, according to Sir John Daugherty. Sir John, if you must know, is the superintendent of buildings and grounds for the New Castle News, and at one time worked in Denver, Colorado, for a couple of years.

Out there (you have Sir John's word for it), they have weather as is weather. On one day in June, one of the two Junes he was there, it was snowing on one side of the street, while on the other side the folks were fanning themselves to get away from the heat. Sir John was caught in the middle of the street and his left shoulder was piled high with snow while his right shoulder was wet with perspiration.

If you think you can't get along an evening without hearing Billy Williams' voice, you can tune in on station WLBW on the evening of February 11. The station is located in Oil City, and that evening the civic clubs of the city are holding one of the better type entertainments. Billy is taking a crew up there to warble a few harmonies for them. N. B. He will not sing Mother Macree.

Seems as though a palm tree doesn't appreciate being in out of the storm. For several years Bill Gardner has had a palm tree in a tub in his shop. Not a big one as palm trees go, but big enough. Now the darn thing is curling up at the edges, so to speak, and the roots appear to be suffering from malnutrition.

There has always been an argument as to whether it was a date palm or a cocoanut palm. The argument will soon be finished with neither side winning. It will be a dead palm.

It does begin to appear as if the fates that control crime waited for John S. Powers to be indicted as district attorney before they cut loose.

At the present time he has six people in the county jail each charged with murder. Today seven lads are turned in for a flock of robberies, and the ordinary run of mine bootlegger looks to be out of luck insofar as any special attention is concerned in the March term of court.

The court is considering the belt conveyor system for mass production. The idea is to put the defendant and all his witnesses on a conveyor and have them pass the jury box slowly. If all the cases listed are tried they will still be holding court up there on Memorial Day.

Sheriff Johnston will soon be confronted with the problem of providing cell space for the customers. The silverware is running short at meal time and the guests are forced to use their napkins at least twice.

STUDENT ATHLETES COMPETE IN GERMANY
(International News Service)
DARMSTADT, Germany, Feb. 7.—From 400 to 500 university student athletes, including a strong representation from America, will come together in Darmstadt in the first ten days of August to compete in the "fourth international student championships" with about 1,000 German students.

Foreign Minister Curtius has accepted the post of honorary president of the meeting. China will be represented by students living in Germany and also by a group coming from China, and Japan will send her best swimmers, sprinters and jumpers.

United Holiness Meeting Tonight

Isaac George Of Maitland Memorial Primitive Methodist Church Is Speaker

United Holiness service held each week at the Salvation Army Hall, 26 East street, is proving a success by reason of the part that members of various churches of the city have been taking in them. The services are proving more and more interesting each week and the service this evening, is expected to prove of more than usual interest by reason of the fact that Isaac George, who is the head of the Interdenominational meeting held every Sunday afternoon in the Maitland Memorial Primitive Methodist church, will be the speaker at this evening's service. Mr. George is a forceful speaker and will have something of interest to tell.
